Gov't Slates Meet Today On Trade Deficit Crisis

The Government was scheduled to discuss at a Cabinet meeting today measures to tide over the current economic crisis and cut the growing deficit in the international trade balance which is expected to reach $420 million by the end of fiscal 1957.

Prior to the Cabinet meeting, the Liberal-Democratic Party was to hold a Policy Board conference to work out the party's policy on the issue. The party hopes to combine the efforts of both the Government and the party in overcoming the difficult economic situation.

The Finance Ministry yesterday tentatively decided to ask the International Monetary Fund for a loan of $125 million as a stopgap measure to tide over Japan's foreign exchange crisis. Informants said the request for the loan may be made by Takeshi Watanabe, an IMF board member, when Prime Minister Kishi visits the U.S. in mid-June. This loan is expected to be given to Japan "without much difficulty because each IMF member nation may borrow up to one half of the amount it has invested in the fund and Japan has invested $250 million," the sources said.

Today's Cabinet meeting will study an over-all plan mapped by the Economic Planning Agency.

The plan estimated that the 1957 fiscal year trade balance will result in a $420 million deficit and said the deficit must be reduced to at least $140 million.

It called among other measures for a one per cent reduction in the 1957 budget and a 5 per cent cut in the Government's investments in private enterprises in order to slash imports by $280 million.

The agency earlier had estimated the economic growth of Japan for the 1957 fiscal year at 7 or 8 per cent but said the rate would drop to about 5 per cent because of the emergency measures to cut the trade balance deficit.

The agency's draft plan estimated this year's exports to reach $2,800 million, special procurement sales $750 million and other dollar revenues to amount to at least $280 million for a total income of $3,650 million.

It estimated this year's import at $3,530 million and other dollar spendings at $540 million, for a total of $4,070 million in expenditures.

This would result in a $420 million deficit in this year's international trade balance.

The agency estimated the trade deficit in the first half of the fiscal year (between April and September) at $370 million. This would cut the foreign exchange reserves to about $150 million.

It said imports, estimated to total $3,530 million this year, must be cut by $280 million.

The Ministry of International Trade and Industry decided yesterday to take every possible emergency measure to prevent further aggravation of Japan's international accounts.

High officials of the Ministry, including Minister Mikio Mizuta and Vice Minister Takeo Ishihara, admitted that about 10 per cent of the fiscal 1957 year investment plan will have to be left over as a result of the enforcement of various tight money measures.

They decided that no exceptional treatment would be granted to basic industries such as electric power and iron and steel in enforcing the investment control policy.

The MITI officials decided that although no revision of the foreign exchange budget would be made, import controls would be enforced on non-urgent materials and foreign exchange allocation deferred for some raw materials such as raw cotton and wool.

Also steel materials, coal, machinery and food will be included in the nonurgent materials.

The officials agreed financing for export promotion must be treated separately from financing for other purposes and be encouraged.

They also agreed on the necessity to relax trade restrictions with Red China and keep an eye on Britain's moves in her trade with Peiping.

Leaders of major trading firms yesterday urged the Government to work out a long-term trade promotion policy.

At a meeting with Finance Vice Minister Teiichi Morinaga, representatives of these companies predicted that the monetary controls recently enforced by the Government would have an adverse effect on Japan's foreign trade, especially the business activities of Japanese trade establishments abroad.

Wide Gap in Views

U.S. Interest in Japan Mounts

By KAZUSHIGE HIRASAWA
Editor, The Japan Times

(Hirasawa is now in the United States in connection with Prime Minister Kishi's trip to Washington. He has been conferring with American leaders in various fields for the past month. This is his appraisal of the situation just prior to Kishi's departure this Sunday.)

WASHINGTON — The United States Government authorities are apparently more interested in Japan today than about a month ago when I arrived here.

This is mainly due to a change in the international situation, and particularly to a series of incidents that happened in the meantime—strong feelings in the United States aroused by the so-called Girard case, disorders in Taipei, and Britain's secession from the CHINCOM.

This means, on the other hand, that a favorable climate has now been created for Kishi's visit to this country.

However, it appears that there still is a wide gap between U.S. expectations from Kishi and Kishi's wishes in his trip to Washington.

In other words, the United States regards Japan-U.S. relations only as a link in the chain of its world policy, while the Japanese side is focusing its attention almost exclusively on the Japan-U.S. relations, that is, Japan-U.S. relations concerning the Okinawan question, and other such concrete question of revision or repeal of the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty, U.S. restrictions on imports from Japan, limitations on trade with Communist China, and the banning of nuclear tests.

In this way, the Japanese side is anxious to take these questions individually for settlement. But, the U.S. side wants to take up the question of infiltration of communism in Asia, particularly the threat from Communist China, and will propose to tackle the question of combating communism if Japan agrees to recognize the presence of Communist menace in Asia.

When Kishi confers with U.S. Government leaders in Washington, the important question will be how much the Prime Minister and U.S. leaders can come closer to each other and narrow down the gap that separates their ways of thinking and approaches to various questions.

There is no denying that U.S. Government authorities hold the view that Kishi may be able to establish a stable Government, barring unforeseen incidents, and therefore, are interested in him in a different way than they were in the other Japanese Prime Ministers who visited the U.S. in the past.

The most important question in Kishi's talks with Washington will be the defense issue. The United States, particularly Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who has negotiated with Japan throughout the postwar period, is tired of hearing the hackneyed phrase of the Japanese side, "gradual build-up of defense forces within the limits of Japan's economic capacity."

Consequently, if Kishi stops here and repeats the same piece, the U.S. may hit him by asking him why there is no increase in defense spending when Japan is said to be enjoying an "unprecedented" boom.

The U.S. military authorities, on the other hand, are hesitant to place complete trust in Japan, doubtful if Japan will march in the same direction in international politics in the future.

They harbor apprehensions that Japan may slip away from the Free World or take a neutralist course in case the Socialists take the reins of government.

Further with regard to the questions of the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty and the Bonin Islands, the U.S. is afraid that if it makes a concession to accept Japan's demand partially, it would be forced to make further concessions sooner or later in a sort of chain reaction. This should be fully taken into consideration in handling these questions.

Furthermore, regarding Kishi's expected proposal for a Southeast Asian development fund, which is likely to be a focal point in his negotiations in Washington, the impression I received from my talks with U.S. Government officials is that

Will Seek New Era In U.S. Talks: Kishi

By International News Service

Prime Minister Kishi said yesterday he would seek to erect with President Eisenhower a "new era" of America-Japan relations that would last at least a decade.

Kishi, who will leave Sunday for a 12-day visit to the U.S., said that Washington need have no concern about his nation "going neutralist or pro-Communist."

He told a group of American newsmen that the U.S. and Japan were "departing from one era and entering another." Obviously he was referring to a general feeling in Tokyo that Japanese "dependence" on the U.S. born of defeat in World War II, had come to an end.

The Government decided yesterday at its Vice Ministers meeting to allocate ¥7,842,000 from the reserve funds in the budget for the travel expenses of Prime Minister Kishi's delegation to the U.S. The remaining expenses for the trip will be paid by the Liberal-Democratic Party and from the Prime Minister's own fund.

The new relationship he aims to build with President Eisenhower when they meet in Washington starting Wednesday will necessarily give rise to several questions, he indicated.

Then he ticked off what generally is regarded here as the knottiest problems existing between the two nations.

He said specifically, however, he would not take up with the U.S. President the "Girard case" which he characterized as "a very unfortunate incident."

At the same time, he implied that Japan would stand firm in its demand to try Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard for the shooting of a Japanese woman last January.

The Prime Minister said the soldier was "off duty—not on" when he slew Mrs. Naka Sakai while she was scavenging for shells on a firing range used by the U.S. Army.

The problems that Kishi said he would discuss with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were these:

1—Japanese defense, involving the security pact linking the two nations.

2—The status of Okinawa, the Bonin Islands and the Russian-held Kuriles, once Japanese property.

3—Economic cooperation between the two nations.

4—How Japan and the U.S. can cooperate in Southeast Asia.

Japan's views on the subject are well known in advance of the trip.

Japan would like to renegotiate an administrative agree-

Ikeda Hints Of Further Rate Hikes

Finance Minister Hayato Ikeda yesterday indicated that the Government was contemplating a raise of long-term interest rates.

This was disclosed to presidents of leading banks in Tokyo —including Kyonosuke Sakai, president of the Daiichi Bank and president of the National Bankers Association—when they called on the Finance Minister at his private residence yesterday afternoon.

The bankers stressed the need to raise the long-term interest rates as a sequel to the increase last month of the official interest rates.

They requested the Finance Minister to boost interest rates for debentures and Government-secured debentures of public corporations by ¥0.002 per ¥100 per diem and interest rates for three and six month deposits by 0.5 per cent per annum.

The Finance Minister hinted to the bankers that the Government was contemplating a raise of interest rates for debentures, but said nothing definite about the request for higher interest rates for time deposits.

However, the Finance Ministry was reported to have decided already last Wednesday on a policy to raise rates for time deposits as a link in the chain of measures to improve the trade balance.

Meanwhile, the Bank of Japan yesterday instructed nine leading commercial banks in Tokyo to cut by more than half their loans for this month, originally estimated to run up to some 50,000 million yen.

Instructions to cut the figure to 22,000-23,000 million yen were given to the chief financing officials of the nine banks—Fuji, Mitsubishi, Daiichi, Mitsui, Hypothec, Kyowa, Industrial, Long-Term Credit and Tokyo.

The central bank took the drastic action in accordance with the Government's policy of discouraging mounting industrial investment activities to cope with Japan's present declining international payments position.

Institute Chief Bares Method How You Can Fight Off Flu

Are you scared of the influenza epidemic? Here is an inexpensive method of keeping off the flu, promoted by Masaru Hayama, head of the Kenko Igaku Institute.

This information is passed over to our readers for what it is worth.

Make a glass of mild salt water and draw it in from the nostrils, each at a time, and spit it out from your mouth. It takes about a week to get the knack. Practice this method every morning and evening and you become immune to cold.

You get your flu first at the mucous membrane in your nose. If the mucous membrane is tough enough, you can prevent the virus attack.

Hayama claims he never had a cold for the past 27 years since he started practicing the salt water method.

About 2,000 persons have followed his advice and they have reported good results, he claims.

Khrushchev Rejects Bid On Controls

HELSINKI (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev Thursday rejected Western proposals for control of disarmament and nuclear weapon production as a "screen to mask plans to continue the arms race."

However, the Soviet Communist Party boss told a two-hour news conference the Soviet Union would agree to the establishment of international inspection posts in the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and other countries if this would facilitate agreement on the banning of nuclear tests.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union found "quite comical" suggestions to "photograph the Arctic ice." This was a reference to U.S. proposals that an inspection zone be set up outside Europe, possibly in the Arctic, as a starting point for East-West agreement on President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan.

Khrushchev's remarks, made in answer to a reporter's questions, indicated a stiffening of the Soviet attitude on disarmament. Western delegates to the current negotiations in London of the U.N. disarmament subcommittee had indicated that the Russians there were showing signs of wanting to reach at least a limited agreement with the West.

The Russian proposal for inspection posts is an old one, first put forward by the Soviets May 10, 1955, at the disarmament negotiations. The Russians proposed then that international inspection teams be stationed at key ports, airports and road and rail junctions to check on movement of troops and military supplies.

Three months later, Harold Stassen, the U.S. delegate to the arms talks, told newsmen that all five nations on the subcommittee—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada —had agreed on ground inspection as a necessary part of disarmament.

Khrushchev told the news conference, which he held with Premier Bulganin, that "no system of control can solve the problem of disarmament because it cannot prevent any state from planning aggression if it wants to."

Bulganin and Khrushchev left Helsinki Thursday after a week-long barnstorming tour of Finland during which he and Bulganin failed to win any political concession from the Finns in an agreement signed in Helsinki Wednesday night.

The Russians failed even to win Finnish support for the latest Soviet propaganda campaign against American atomic bases abroad.

The communique said both governments consider it necessary "that international agreements be concluded envisaging the unconditional banning of the use of atomic and hydrogen weapons under appropriate international control as well as the immediate and unconditional discontinuation of experiments with these weapons."

The only new feature incorporated in the four-page agreement was a protocol calling for 100,000,000 rubles worth of expanded Soviet-Finnish trade. This had been the very least expected from the agreement.

Strike Off; Bonus Basis Accepted by Rail Unions

The National Railway Worker Union (Kokuro) and the National Railway Locomotive Engineers Union (Kiro) yesterday morning called off a scheduled strike after reaching an agreement with National Railway Corporation authorities on a summer bonus.

The two workers unions of the National Railway Corporation decided after all-night negotiations with the management to accept an offer of a summer bonus equal to 78 per cent of monthly wages plus ¥600.

The unions had demanded payment of an amount equal to 100 per cent of monthly pay.

The Kiro and Kokuro Unions instructed their members at 9 and 9:30 a.m., respectively, to call off the strike launched at midnight Wednesday.

The strike was to be held today as well as yesterday.

Before the end-the-strike order was issued, union members at various work sites all over the nation had started "take-leave" tactics which caused the suspension of 271 trains as well as the delaying of 181 trains.

Kokuro mobilized 6,727 members in pickets. They were reinforced by 1,290 outsiders. Of the 5,104 members scheduled to be on duty yesterday, 2,075 took part in the "take-leave" tactics.

Meanwhile, 515 members of Kiro picketed, but only 10 outsiders participated as reinforcements. Of the 1,528 members, scheduled to report for work yesterday, 918 stayed away from their jobs to join the workshop rallies.

Railway schedules are expected to return to normal in the evening. In settling the dispute, the workers unions shelved their demand for the retraction of disciplinary measures taken against union leaders responsible for the spring offensive.

Both National Railway workers unions decided to hold off settlement of the dispute over the disciplinary measures as the summer bonus issue had priority.

Meanwhile, the National Communications (Postal Workers) Union (Zentei) yesterday morning also called off its summer bonus struggle after accepting Postal Services Ministry's offer of 80 per cent of monthly wages.

The struggle was to be carried out in the form of the "take-leave" tactics.

Zentei dropped its demand for the retraction of the disciplinary measures taken toward union leaders responsible for the spring offensive in settling the dispute.

Zentei is the fourth member union of the National Council of Government and Public Workers Unions (Kankoro) to drop its summer bonus dispute.

Britain, ROK Elevate Mutual Diplomatic Status

LONDON (AP)—Britain and South Korea Thursday raised the status of their diplomatic missions in Seoul and London to that of embassies.

A Foreign Office announcement said the present British Minister in Seoul, Hubert John Evans, and his opposite number in London, Dr. Ham-Pun Chung, had been appointed ambassadors.

Employe Absence Up As Flu Attacks Adults

The Welfare Ministry warned yesterday that the raging influenza epidemic has spread to the adult population after attacking more than half a million school children throughout the country.

The warning was based on a report that the rate of absenteeism has doubled as a result of flu at 11 places of employment out of a total of 144 covered by a Metropolitan Government survey.

This was reported to the second meeting of the Influenza Countermeasure Conference held yesterday afternoon at the Welfare Ministry.

The meeting was attended by officials in charge of epidemic prevention of the Welfare, Labor and Education Ministries, Defense Agency, and by officials of the Tokyo Metropolitan and Kanagawa Prefecture Governments.

The meeting decided to hold a meeting of the Influenza Vaccine Research Conference today to make arrangements on the manufacture of influenza vaccines.

Meanwhile, a Welfare Ministry official said yesterday that a spring or summer influenza epidemic is invariably followed by another wave of outbreaks in autumn or winter and that a second wave influenza tends to be serious and develop pneumonia and other side diseases.

A spokesman of the Kanagawa Prefectural Hygiene Institute said yesterday that the types of influenza virus change at each outbreak and doubted the effectiveness of the A-Tokyo-57 type vaccine.

Further, a staff member of the National Preventive Hygiene Institute also said that it may be just as well to catch influenza at the present stage when its death rate is still extremely low, and be immune to it when the stronger attack comes again.

In Tokyo, meanwhile, the Education Agency of the Metropolitan Government announced that a total of 152 schools reported mass outbreaks of the epidemic, and that 112 or 70 per cent of the affected schools suspended classes.

This brought to 1,919 the number of flu-stricken schools in the Metropolitan area.

Starting today, all schools in Minato Ward will be closed until June 20. This will increase to 13 the number of wards which have closed down all schools.

In Nerima and Bunkyo wards schools which have closed amounted to 80 per cent of the total.

Rhee Hotly Denounces Any Talks With Japan, Dashes Accord Hopes

ROK President Says Tokyo Must Prove Sincerity

SEOUL (Kyodo-UP) — President Syngman Rhee declared Thursday that any resumption of formal Republic of Korea-Japan talks to establish diplomatic relations between them would be "utterly futile" until Japan proved by action that it deserved the friendship of Korea.

The South Korean leader said the Japanese "nave not reached the requisite point of sincerity.

"Until they do, and proven it in action any renewal of formal Korea-Japan conferences would be utterly futile," Rhee said in a written answer to questions submitted to him by the United Press earlier this week.

Referring to the current informal negotiations between the two governments, President Rhee said the present talks "cannot be considered really satisfactory, because there should be no negotiations at all."

A Foreign Office source said early this morning that an agreement in the current Japan-Korea talks may not be reached before Prime Minister Kishi's departure for the U.S. as a result of President Rhee's "attitude." The source said the Rhee statement could not be regarded as "mere bluff." He added the statement "might have expressed the real intention of the Korean Government to a certain degree." However, the source said, the statement could not be taken as having decisive effect on the outcome of the Japan-Korea rapprochement talks since negotiations were continued as of early this morning between Japanese delegate, Foreign Office Counsellor Kijiro Miyake of Japan and Korean Minister Yiu Tai Ha.

"Before any discussion of other issues," Rhee said "the Japanese should withdraw their illegal claim to 85 per cent of Korean property, retract the Kubota statement which challenged our sovereignty and independence, release the Omura detainees in return for the freeing of Japanese fishermen who have completed their sentences at Pusan, and agree to respect the (Rhee) Peace Line until other arrangements have been made to safeguard Korean fishery grounds and coastal security.

"What should there be to negotiate on these questions?" Rhee asked.

Rhee's statement virtually dashed Japanese hopes that an agreement on the mutual release of prisoners between the two countries would be signed this week, thus paving the way for resumption of formal talks.

Rhee also said, "Japan must stop lining up with the Communists and give up its aspirations to dominate Asia if it is to have the respect and friendship of Korea or of any other free Asian country."

President Rhee said a "sincere, anti-Communist, pro-Free World Japan could take the first step toward normalization of relations with Korea within a very few minutes."

He charged that the Japanese were trying to bargain with the Seoul Government "on what cannot be submitted to bargaining."

Rhee said the Republic of Korea "could not possibly offer" any concessions on issues blocking normal relations between the two countries.

Prime Minister Kishi said in Tokyo only Wednesday that he was "95 per cent" certain that an agreement on the mutual release of prisoners will be signed before he leaves for the United States Sunday.

Officials of the two governments in Tokyo drafted documents outlining the agreement after a negotiation session between ROK Minister to Japan Yiu Tai Ha and a high Japanese Foreign Ministry official.

Yiu, who flew here Wednesday with the documents to obtain Rhee's approval, conferred with the President and Foreign Minister Cho Chung Whan Thursday morning.

According to informed sources here, Yiu will not return to Tokyo this week.

Army Said Putting Pressure on Girard

By The United Press

American soldier William S. Girard charged yesterday that U.S. military authorities in Japan had applied pressure to him to stand trial in a Japanese court for the killing of Mrs. Naka Sakai.

In an exclusive interview, Specialist 3.C. Girard said, "I have been under pressure from the Army and the Far East Command."

He added, "It has been plenty tough at times."

But the 21-year-old soldier from Ottawa, Ill., said emphatically that his personal legal adviser, Maj. Stanley F. Levin had not put any pressure upon him whatsoever.

A top Army officer here in Tokyo last night said that the only reason he can think of that the Army might exert pressure on Girard is to maintain the current system of jurisdiction which has "worked so well for the past 12 years."

He said the Army has searched for a quiet and fair solution to the Girard case, and "we find ourselves in the midst of an overwhelming public opinion in America which is pulling the rug out from under an Army policy which has worked amicably for so many years."

He said: "What we really wanted from the beginning was to settle this thing quietly, with no fuss or comment."

In an outright rejection of charges by John Griffin, spokesman for Girard's lawyers in America, Girard said, "Major Levin has been a good friend to me and I can't think of anybody else who could do a better job or take his place."

Girard spoke to the United Press by telephone from Camp Whittington, the military base 40 miles northwest of Tokyo to which he has been confined since the shooting of Mrs. Sakai at the Camp Weir firing range Jan. 30.

Girard came to the telephone after Levin, on the same telephone, bitterly denied the charge made by Griffin in Washington.

Levin said, "I have my entire career ahead of me. And I want to make it absolutely clear that I have never threatened or done anything to coerce Girard into a situation from which he cannot recover. I am doing my best for him."

Levin and Girard conferred for several hours yesterday following a report that the buddy who was on guard duty with Girard at the time of the shooting incident had "admitted" he threw some shells on the ground to lure Mrs. Sakai within range of Girard's grenade launcher.

Of the soldier, Specialist 3.C. Victor N. Nickel of Inkster, Mich., Girard said, "Nickel is a good buddy of mine. I will not say whether he threw empty shell cartridges or not because that is his affair."

Nickel Not Undergoing Probe: Army

By International News Service

The U.S. Army said yesterday an American soldier who was with William S. Girard during a firing range incident in which a Japanese woman was shot is "not undergoing investigation at this time."

The Army said Specialist 3.C. Victor N. Nickel, of Inkster, Mich., has requested and has been granted "protective custody" to keep newsmen from talking to him.

Asked specifically whether Nickel is being investigated by the Army as a possible accessory in the shooting death of Mrs. Naka Sakai on Jan. 30, the Army replied: "Nickel is not undergoing investigation at this time."

The spokesman said Nickel was granted a status of "administrative restriction" which is the same status Specialist Girard has been under in Camp Whittington since the Jan. 30 affidavit.

Meanwhile, the Army said no court-martial charges are pending against Nickel.

The Army spokesman said Nickel contacted military authorities Thursday and made the following request:

"I do not desire to talk or meet with newsmen or any other media of the press.

"I know that they will try to approach me so it is my request

The Foreign Office expressed regrets yesterday that the American Government had reaffirmed its intention of going ahead with its nuclear test series at Nevada.

The comment was made in releasing the American reply, dated June 10, to the second Japanese protest against the Nevada tests, submitted May 29.

The content of the American note was much the same as the earlier reply to Japan's first plea for suspension of atomic tests at Nevada.

100 Warships Of 18 Nations In Big Review

ABOARD MISSILES CRUISER CANBERRA, Hampton Roads, Va. (INS)—The naval might of 18 nations flexed freedom's muscles along a 14-mile stretch of water Wednesday in history's greatest naval review.

This ship, her chartreuse-colored rockets pointed skyward carried Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Atlantic Fleet Commander in Chief Adm. Jerauld Wright and scores of diplomats and officials past more than 100 warships colorfully trimmed and manned by 55,000 defenders of the peace.

The brass saw ships that ranged in age and size from the four-masted Spanish training Barkentine Juan Sebastian de Elcano to the incredible USS Saratoga. There were battleships, cruisers, destroyers, frigates, destroyer escorts, submarines, transports, minecraft, oilers, a sky filled with helicopters and blimps—and finally a breathtaking demonstration of supersonic precision flying by the famed Blue Angels.

"Wonderful. The Free World is proud of the navies represented here today, all dedicated to peace," Wilson said as the Canberra neared its Norfolk pier in the world's largest naval base.

"Wonderful, beautiful," exclaimed the Russian Embassy's naval attache, Capt. Fedor F. Presnakov, who saw and took notes on such wonders as a submarine with a big Red Regulus missile poised on its deck, and a special submarine bristling with radar equipment, a type used in constant preparedness against Russian attacks.

"It's a pity my country wasn't invited to participate," Presnakov added. It was explained to him that only NATO members and countries whose navies or peoples settled in the hemisphere had been invited to this salute to the 350th anniversary of the settlement of Jamestown by Capt. John Smith and his party.

"Ah, then we should have been invited after all," he said. "Russians settled Oregon."

Anthems of all the participating nations sounded from the U.S. naval school of music band, aboard the Canberra, briskly led for hours by chief musician George Hertzog, of Washington, D.C.

Back across the water, at times, would come the "Star Spangled Banner," played by French, and British, and even Venezuelan sailor-musicians. The Italians responded differently. The men of the Italian destroyers San Giorgio and San Marco gave vent to three guttural hurrahs.

Battleships to Be Mothballed

ABOARD USS BOSTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates gazed at the battleships Wisconsin and Iowa from the flying bridge of this deadly missile cruiser Wednesday and said. "I don't think you'll see a battleship in another naval review."

Both of the big battlewagons soon will be placed in mothballs, Gates said. Deactivation of the Wisconsin will begin in November and deactivation of the Iowa next year, he said.

"It is possible," he interpolated, "that battleships may become platforms for guided missiles (but) we have no present plans along that line."

Hirasawa

they are skeptical about it almost without exception. They say that the proposal would be interesting as an idea but wonder what concrete form it would take.

The U.S. side will ask concrete questions, "How much is the United States required to contribute to the fund?" "Will the fund be favorably received by Southeast Asian countries?" and so forth.

If Kishi just answers them in broad terms and cannot go further than promising "more study later," he will fail to interest U.S. leaders, who think always in terms of "policy" and do not think highly of individual "ideas."

U.S. authorities are apparently attaching less importance to the Prime Minister's Southeast Asian tour than the Japanese public expect they would.

Be that as it may, Kishi may be able to utilize his Southeast Asian tour in promoting U.S. interest in Japan, depending on the way he makes use of it.

Japan, which has achieved a rapid economic expansion unparalleled in the world in the last few years, is in a position to give an object lesson to the new countries of Southeast Asia, which tend to be attracted more to "rash" economic construction methods modeled after Communist China. Japan can demonstrate that a "roundabout" democratic method of economic construction can achieve a rapid economic expansion that can compare favorably with anything under communism.

It would be worthwhile for Kishi to remember during his talks with U.S. Government leaders that Japan can contribute to the Free World in this nonmilitary way.

Unless Kishi is backed in the talks by the united purpose of Japanese public opinion, just as in the case of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who met President Eisenhower to drive home to him the long-cherished aspirations of the German people for unification, we cannot expect him to be as successful as his German counterpart.

Lastly, I would like to underline that it is most important for the Prime Minister to follow through his trip to Washington by presenting a truthful report to the Japanese people upon his return.

Most Japanese politicians, who visited the U.S. in the past, were apt to say what was pleasing to the Americans while they were in the U.S. and upon their return to make a report which suited their wishful thinking. This is the reason why a real bridge is still to be built across the Pacific.

It is hoped that the Prime Minister will be courageous enough to speak out what he has to say in Washington and have guts enough to tell the truth about his talks with U.S. leaders when he is back home.

It would be only in this way that Kishi's forthcoming trip to Washington will be appraised in a correct manner and acquire new significance.

Mao Admits Having 'Liquidated' 800,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said Thursday that Mao Tse-tung has admitted 800,000 persons were "liquidated" by Chinese Communist security forces between October, 1949, and the beginning of 1954.

A Times dispatch from Warsaw said Red China's top leader disclosed that figure in his much-discussed speech to party leaders in Peiping last February.

The text of Mao's speech has not been published, but a condensed version has been circulated among Polish Communists and parts of it previously have been reported by Western correspondents in Warsaw.

The latter included Mao's new Marxist theory that contradictions exist, not only in the ranks of the masses but also between the masses and the party.

Yanks Coming From ROK Must Get Visas at Taipei

By The United Press

American civilians, including dependents of military personnel, desiring entry into Japan from the Republic of Korea must obtain visas from the Japanese Embassy at Taipei, the U.S. consulate general here announced yesterday.

The new regulations will go into effect July 1.

Visa applications must be submitted through the U.S. Embassy at Seoul to the Japanese Embassy at Taipei.

Americans applying for entry into Japan for periods exceeding six months must appear in person at the Japanese Embassy at Taipei.

Unions Fussy; Seaweeds Rot

LONDON (INS) — Two tons of seaweed remained on a truck at a British movie studio while two unions argued whether it was living—and should be unloaded by gardeners—or dead — and handled by scenery shifters. After the seaweed had sat in the sun for two days it was removed by—a garbage man.

that steps be taken to place me in protective custody."

Nickel's name became linked with Girard's when a U.S. Defense Department attorney disclosed the content of an affidavit from Nickel relating events at the time of the shooting.

An Army spokesman, asked to comment on press reports that Nickel actually threw shells to entice the Japanese shell pickers closer instead of Girard, said:

"The extent of Nickel's involvement is not yet determined. There are no court-martial charges pending against Nickel."

The Army spokesman declined to comment on reports that Nickel contacted the Criminal Investigation Division of the Army in Japan last week and changed his original story.

Defense Department attorney Robert Dechert disclosed in Coral Gables, Fla., that Nickel indicated in an affidavit that Girard threw shells toward several Japanese scavengers to "entice" them closer.

A top official of the Maebashi District procurator's office disclosed yesterday his office has "no intention" of prosecuting Army Specialist 3.C. Victor Nickel as an accomplice in the Girard case.

The official, whose name cannot be revealed, said Nickel admitted to Japanese procurators late February that he scattered empty cartridge cases in the direction of a Japanese woman shellpicker whose death is charged against Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard.

But, he added, there is no evidence to support a charge against Nickel, nor any proof that Girard and Nickel jointly pre-arranged the shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai.

The Maebashi official said as far as his office was concerned, "we must assume Nickel's act was done in mischief. We are not going to prosecute him. Our investigation (of Nickel) is completed."

OBITUARIES

PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE

NEW YORK (INS)— Peggy Hopkins Joyce, much-married former Follies girl, died of throat cancer Wednesday night in New York's Memorial Hospital.

Her sixth husband, Andrew Meyer, was at her bedside at the time of her death.

The exact age of the one-time beauty is a matter of question. The records at the hospital, supplied by Meyer, list her as having been born May 26, 1903, which would make her 54.

YURI OTORI

ANN ARBOR, Mich (AP)—Yuri Otori, of Tokyo, a University of Michigan scholar, died here Wednesday on her 45th birthday.

She was stricken with a brain hemorrhage June 1 and had been hospitalized since.

She was one of 11 women from the Far East who were chosen "Barbour scholars" last fall. She had been studying zoology here.

Miss Otori was a daughter of Fujitaro Otori, a Japanese diplomat before World War II and at one time, Ambassador to Mexico.

U.S., Taiwan Planes Hit by Peiping Guns

HONGKONG (INS)—Red Chinese antiaircraft guns Wednesday slightly damaged a U.S. Navy plane about eight miles off the coast in the Formosa Strait area. No one aboard was hurt.

Peiping Radio announced that two of four Chinese Nationalist jet planes were shot down in the same general area.

The U.S. plane, from the aircraft carrier Hornet, was on a routine training mission, when the Communist guns in the Swatow area opened fire. It apparently had flown closer to the coast than its pilot intended.

The incident was first disclosed by the Peiping Radio. The U.S. Navy confirmed the attack a few hours later.

A statement issued in Washington said the incident occurred in hazy weather and added:

"It appears that the aircraft concerned was to the westward of its plotted position, being about eight miles off the coast when it was fired on."

The Peiping broadcast said the plane "intruded into the Swatow area" off the coast.

The Peiping broadcast said the Hornet and four destroyers sailed out of Hongkong shortly after 7 a.m. and claimed "they invaded the South China Sea, within the territorial waters of China."

Peiping Claim Denied

TAIPEI (AP)—An Air Force spokesman termed entirely groundless Peiping's claim that Reds downed two Nationalist jets over Swatow. He said Nationalist planes on a routine patrol over the Taiwan Strait Wednesday encountered ground fire off Swatow but it was ineffectual and all returned to base safely.

"The Reds are always making false claims," he said.

The spokesman said planes met ground fire between 1400 and 1500 Taiwan daylight saving time.

(This was at least one hour before an American carrier plane was fired on.

(Peiping is believed trying to link the two incidents to give the impression that some sort of joint American-Nationalist operation was involved.

ment that accompanies the mutual security pact to lessen the financial burden involved.

Tokyo would like to assume at least "administrative control" over Okinawa although Kishi said yesterday "we do not deny Okinawa occupies a key place in the U.S. scheme of Asian defense and it is to our defensive benefit as well."

Economically, Japan would like to see the bars on Red China trade lowered but Kishi said Japan would not "go it alone" as Britain has decided to do.

"We do not appreciate the independent action Britain has taken," he said, "because unity of the Free World is very important and this will tend to weaken it."

Regarding Southeast Asia, Japan would prefer to see a plan whereby U.S. dollar aid to Southeast Asian nations carried a proviso that Japanese industrial know-how be put to work with the funds.

Kishi emphasized that Japan had no intention of recognizing Red China but "in the matter of trade with the mainland—the question of what we export is vital—therefore we would like to increase our trade with Communist China."

Nevertheless, he said, "Japan's conservative governments, and mine especially, take a definite stand in the Free World camp." He added: "We are not going neutralist or pro-Communist. I feel it is in our best interests to strive for closer ties with the United States.

"On the other hand, it is in the best interests of America to see a strong, healthy Japan that will grow soundly in the future."

Uda to See New Method Of Separating Isotopes

BONN (AP)—The chief of the Japanese Atomic Energy Commision, Koichi Uda, will be shown a revolutionary new German process for separation of isotopes Wednesday.

The process, discovered by German Prof. Wilhelm Groth, is considered to be far cheaper than any method as yet devised in the United States.

Because of the importance of the discovery Uda expressed a wish to visit Groth at his Physics and Chemical Research Institute of Bonn University where it was developed.

'Ray' Exposure Made Veterans Sterile, N.Y. Paper Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News said Thursday the U.S. Army is investigating charges that a number of World War II veterans are sterile because of exposure to "mysterious blinding 'light rays.'"

In a copyrighted dispatch from Washington, the News described the light rays as "a Pentagon brainstorm experiment which fizzled after three years and had limited success in combat."

"The idea was simple. The Army would put blinding lights on tanks, send them into action at night, ruin the aim if not the eyesight of the enemy and permit our troops to move up behind in comparative safety.

"The 'light-throwing' tanks were used in operations along the Rhine. A total of 456 were put into operation. According to the watered-down report, the 'lights' were carbon arc types each having 13 million candlepower. There is strong reason to believe that something more than carbon arcs was involved."

The News said "uncounted numbers of GIs were made sterile or genetically defective" when exposed to the lights.

In Washington, the Army said no complaints of this type "officially have been brought to the attention of the Army. If any are received they will naturally be investigated."

In Bridgeport, Conn., a lawyer representing four Connecticut men who served in the tank operation, said he had information, some of it secondhand, on about 25 or 30 men in the company.

Attorney Raymond Lyddy said "they reported that the instances of sterility, malformations, and deformed children were just tremendous."

Of the four men he represented, he said, one was sterile, and the other three "were not sterile but they had malformed children. There had been numerous miscarriages, two children with cleft palates, and one child with a club foot."

Joseph Vanacore, of Hamden, a 42-year-old postal worker, said he is the one who is sterile. He also confirmed the lawyer's statements about the other three.

When he was asked about the anti-tank operation, he said, "When we were in the Army this was a top secret project. I'd rather not talk about it."

Vanacore said he found out he was sterile in 1950 and twice applied to the Veteran's Administration for compensation, but was turned down.

Lyddy said the four got together about a year ago and started comparing notes. Then they got in touch with other members of the tank company, and swapped information about some 30 men.

Socialists Blame Gov't for Crisis

The Socialist Party blamed the Government yesterday for the recent worsening of Japan's international balance of payments.

The Socialists also demanded in a statement that the Government call the Diet into special session as soon as possible to discuss economic countermeasures.

The Socialists charged that the present economic crisis had resulted from many years of unsystematic expansion policies, which mainly benefited "monopolistic capitalists."

The foundation of the economic policies of the Kishi Government, they claimed, is now crumbling only one month after the adjournment of the Diet session, which studied and passed this year's fiscal budget.

Doctor Treats Adenauer For Minor Head Bruise

VIENNA (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer required medical treatment shortly after his arrival for a four-day state visit here.

A doctor was called to Adenauer's Vienna hotel to examine a head wound the Chancellor suffered when he bumped his head against a bell button in his plane shortly before touchdown.

Switzerland Offers to Host Meet on Radiation Danger

BERN (INS)—The Swiss Government offered Wednesday to be host to an international conference of scientists to discuss potential radiation danger from nuclear tests.

MEDICINE FOR YOUR HAIR

A new scientific discovery has made possible a new Hair Tonic. It has been proved that Panthenol, a Vitamin of the B Group, is of utmost importance for the nourishment of the scalp and for the growth of hair. Panthenol is manufactured by the world-famous pharmaceutical firm of Hoffmann-La Roche.

Amongst hair preparations Panteen is the only one which contains Panthenol, a product which is protected by patents. Therefore, only Panteen can supply this essential Vitamin to hair and scalp.

By this means the correct nourishment is furnished to the hair and hair producing cells. Even after use for only a short time, you will be able to notice how dandruff and itching scalp disappear even in very severe cases. Panteen also regulates the activity of the sebaceous glands, stops falling hair and stimulates new hair growth. In cases of advanced baldness, one can only expect new hair if complete hardening of the scalp has not set in, and the hair roots are not dead. Therefore, it is important to begin in time with a regular Panteen treatment.

Assembly Approves Bourges as Premier

PARIS (AP)—Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, 42-year-old middle-roader, early Thursday won office as the nation's youngest Premier since 1883 on a vote of 240 to 194 in the French National Assembly.

The youthful Radical-Socialist, who served 16 months as Defense Minister in the preceding Cabinet, brought along into power a whole team of younger men, including 37-year-old Felix Gaillard as Finance Minister. The new Government is pledged to vigorous action in settling the Algerian rebellion and restoring balance to the public treasury.

Bourges-Maunoury becomes the youngest Premier since Armand Fallieres took that office in 1883, also at the age of 42.

Ike Schedules Golf With Kishi on Wed.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has arranged to play golf next Wednesday with Japan's Prime Minister Kishi.

Kishi is to arrive in Washington next week for conferences with Eisenhower and other Administration officials. The White House said Wednesday the President had invited him to play a round of golf during the visit and that Kishi had accepted.

Court System Reform Hoped By Dr. Tanaka

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Dr. Kotaro Tanaka, addressing a national conference of chief judges which opened in Tokyo yesterday, voiced his hope to imbue fresh air into Japan's entire bench service to clear up what he termed the prevailing atmosphere of complacency and laxity.

The conference, held at the Supreme Court, was an annual meeting of chief judges of all higher and district courts.

The top judicial authorities are not necessarily satisfied with the present system and manner of operation of the Japanese courts. They especially see the need of reforming the present Supreme Court system, he stressed.

Although any reform of the Supreme Court requires careful studies relative to the Constitution, the need is increasing for more efficient handling of appeal cases and for a separate court for appeals, he explained.

Referring to the scheduled expiration of the 10-year constitutional office terms of some 1,100 judges of lower courts between this October and next March, Dr. Tanaka said the Supreme Court would carefully screen the aptitudes of present judges for continued services. Transfer of judges remaining at the same posts for a long time will also be studied, he added.

Train Hits Truck On Tokaido Line

SHIZUOKA (Kyodo) — The Tokaido trunk line of the Japanese National Railway was blocked for several hours yesterday morning after an empty passenger train smashed into a truck between Higashi-Tagonoura and Yoshiwara in Shizuoka Prefecture.

The assistant driver of the truck belonging to a Tokyo hauling firm was instantly killed and the driver seriously injured.

The truck was hurled 40 yards while the locomotive of the 10-coach train was over-turned and three coaches were derailed. None of the train crew was hurt.

The accident occurred at a grade crossing near Yoshiwara Station. Police suspected that the watchman at the crossing had neglected to lower the safety barriers as the train approached.

Hailstones Injure 10; Damage Crops in Oita

OITA (Kyodo)—Ten persons were injured yesterday afternoon when hailstones the size of a man's fist accompanied by a strong gale stormed the small town of Kusu, Oita Prefecture.

The storm hit a workers' lodge, injuring a woman laborer and four others.

Five schoolgirls in a classroom were also injured by debris from a barn torn down by a twister. About 80 window panes were also broken.

The hail, crashed through roofs and windows and inflicted extensive damage to crops over a wide area at Kusu.

Japan Diver Removed From Chamber

By The United Press

YOKOSUKA — A Japanese diver receiving treatment here in the U.S. Navy's decompression chamber was removed from the chamber yesterday and taken to the city's Kyosai Hospital.

The diver, Hidehiro Isozaki, was flown into Yokosuka last Sunday afternoon from Naha, Okinawa, after suffering from the bends, and placed immediately in the chamber.

The U.S. Navy said that Isozaki's legs were still paralyzed when he was removed from the chamber.

Hyogo Reds Accuse Police of Espionage

KOBE (Kyodo)—The Japan Communist Party's Hyogo Prefectural Committee issued a statement yesterday accusing police and security officers of recurrent espionage activities against the Japanese Reds.

The statement charged that the prefecture's public security investigation bureau repeatedly tried to persuade a student of the Kobe University of Foreign Studies to spy on the JCP and also made similar overtures to a Kawasaki Dockyard employe.

An official of the Hyogo public security investigation bureau admitted that the charges were not totally groundless. But he said his bureau was operating under the law and was fully prepared to justify its acts.

Night Test Scheduled For Rocket

A night rocket firing test, the first to be held in Japan, will be carried out at the Tokyo University Rocket Center at Michikawa, along the Japan Sea Coast in Akita Prefecture, during the one-week period starting June 21.

The project will be preceded by the testing of a small luminous rocket on the night of June 19.

The projected test was announced by the Production Technique Research Institute of Tokyo University Wednesday.

The rocket to be used, the announcement said, will be a two-stage Kappa III type, similar to the rocket tested at Michikawa last April. It will be launched at an angle of 70 degrees.

Red and blue flash cylinders will be attached to the main rocket and the booster, respectively.

The 350-lb. rocket will fly at a maximum velocity of 3,575 feet per second or 3.7 times the speed of sound for two minutes and 23 seconds.

The night test of the Kappa III has been planned to trace the rocket's path, an objective which could not be achieved in earlier tests in April. A camera and radar equipment will be used for the purpose.

Booth Disappears; Shuns Court Meet

The Tokyo District Court announced yesterday it has sent out a nationwide alert for Robert Booth who failed to show up June 10 at the court that was to rule an embezzlement and foreign exchange violation charges against Booth. A reliable source said he may have already fled to Hawaii, Hongkong or the Philippines.

Booth is charged with presenting a forged $1,000 check and embezzling ¥750,00 from an Indonesian trader in Feb., 1955, and swindling $5,700 in U.S. military payment certificates from Gakushuin University student Jacob C. Shapiro in March, 1956.

The prosecutors demanded a four-year sentence.

Booth was reported to have met his Japanese lawyer in Tokyo on June 8 but failed to show up at the June 10 court session and has been missing ever since.

Booth became manager of the "China Club" in Yokohama upon his release on bail in April. He was formerly editor of the Preview Magazine in Tokyo and appeared as a by-player in several Japanese movies.

Rice Farmers Demand Producers' Price Hike

Close to 2,000 representatives of farmers throughout Japan held a rally at the Shiba Public Hall in Tokyo yesterday and passed resolutions demanding a raise in the producers' price of rice but no increase in the consumers' price.

The delegates also voiced strong objection to abolition of rice rationing.

After the rally, the gathering divided into five groups and presented their case before the Finance, Agriculture-Forestry and other Ministries concerned.

Premier Reviews Defense Forces

Prime Minister Kishi visited the 1st District Headquarters of the Ground Self-Defense Force at Nerima, Tokyo, yesterday morning and inspected the barracks following a review.

More than 1,000 men participated in the review and a total of 12 liaison planes as well as 13 tanks and heavy artillery units took part.

Kishi told the men that although international tension has become relaxed recently, the unstable factor in international relations still remains and therefore efforts for the defense of the homeland must not be neglected. The objective of defense is not to win a war but to keep war from starting, the Prime Minister said.

'Stopover Tokyo' Star Hurts Foot in Bathtub

By The Associated Press

Film actor Robert Wagner, star of the 20th Century-Fox film "Stopover Tokyo" now being made here, injured his foot Wednesday night when he slipped in his hotel room bathtub, a spokesman said yesterday.

The studio official said Wagner suffered a broken blood vessel and severely bruised muscles which will keep him from working the rest of this week.

Final scenes of "Stopover Tokyo," now being shot in the Tokyo area, probably will be completed by the middle of next week, the spokesman said.

Osaka Asks Gov't to Push China Trade

OSAKA—The Osaka Chamber of Commerce and Industry decided at its regular meeting yesterday to request the Government to negotiate with the United States for relaxation of restrictions on trade with Communist China.

Dissatisfied with the lukewarm attitude taken by the Government toward Britain's abolishment of the CHINCOM embargo, the chamber will urge the Government to follow the British step.

The Government had decided to mediate between Britain and the U.S. when the former announced the relaxation of CHINCOM restrictions late last month.

In presenting the case before the Government, the Osaka Chamber of Commerce and Industry will point out the fact that it is urgently necessary to promote exports to Communist China in order to remedy the unfavorable condition of international accounts and that most West European countries are enjoying free trade with the Communist bloc under the special approval system.

The chamber will also warn the Government that Britain is likely to monopolize the Red Chinese market unless Japan adopts some measures to advance into the market.

If it is impossible to totally lift the restrictions immediately, the chamber suggests, the Government may, for the time being, bring down the restrictions to the COCOM level to tide over the crisis in international accounts.

Meanwhile, the Osaka Prefectural Assembly, at a general meeting Tuesday, unanimously adopted a resolution calling for easing of trade restrictions with Red China as in the case of Britain, "in view of the industrial peculiarity of the prefecture." The assembly will immediately send a formal request to Prime Minister Kishi.

Bodies of 3 Schoolboys Lifted From Lagoon

MITO (Kyodo) — The bodies of three 7-year-old schoolboys were recovered from the Kasumigaura lagoon in Ibaraki Prefecture Wednesday by a rescue squad composed of police and firemen.

The boys had ventured out on the lagoon on a small boat without the knowledge of its owner. They were drowned when one of them fell into the water and the other two tried to rescue him.

Kidnaper Drops Appeal to Court

The kidnaper of a vaudevillian's son withdrew his appeal to the Supreme Court against a verdict by a lower court yesterday, and decided to serve out his three-year jail term.

In July, 1955, the 7-year-old son of the famed vaudevillian Tony Tani disappeared on his way home from school. Soon after, Tadahiko Miyazaka, 39, was arrested as the boy's kidnaper.

The Tokyo District Court sentenced him to four years' imprisonment. Later, however, the Tokyo Higher Court reduced the sentence to three years. Miyazaka then appealed to the Supreme Court.

Last month, he failed in an attempt to commit suicide.

Central News Agency Correspondent Passes

George Chang, 53, Tokyo correspondent for the Central News Agency of China, died of cerebral haemorrhage Tuesday afternoon at St. Luke's International Hospital here.

Funeral services will be held on June 17, from 2 p.m. at the Aoyama Funeral Parlor. The body was cremated late Wednesday afternoon.

Chang, grandson of the famous Chinese Viceroy Chang Tsetong, had been with the Central News Agency's Tokyo bureau for the past five years.

"Princess," pet of Airman 1.C. Richard Greene, casts an inquisitive look at her master as he helps her litter of 11 puppies—about five more than the usual litter for German Shepherds. Princess, who could only accommodate eight pups at one time, was hard pressed to feed her brood, so Greene assisted with baby milk bottles. It was a harried week for Greene—two days after the puppies were born, his wife, Pat, gave birth to a baby boy, David, at Tachikawa's 6407th Hospital. The Greenes live in Kunitachi and have two other children, Eddie, 5, and Marsha, 2.

Emperor, Empress Fete British Queen

The Emperor and Empress yesterday sent a cable of felicitation to Queen Elizabeth II on the occasion of her official birthday. Their Majesties also dispatched Ken Harada, Grand Master of Ceremonies of the Imperial Household Agency, to the British Embassy at Ichiban-cho, Kojimachi, to convey their congratulations.

Fingerprint Issue Blocks Reds' Visit

NAGOYA (Kyodo)—The visit to Japan of three Communist Chinese trade experts may be blocked by the Japanese Government's policy of taking fingerprints of foreign entrants.

The three, including Chang Tzu-tsuan of Peiping's International Promotion Committee, had been expected to visit Japan last Monday to make preparations for Communist Chinese sample fairs to be held in Nagoya and Fukuoka this fall.

The Japanese Government, however, announced that the Chinese would not be permitted to enter this country unless they agreed to have their fingerprints taken.

The Chinese Fair Cooperation Committee in Nagoya feared that such a Government policy might block not only the trio's trip to Japan but the holding of the fairs themselves. The committee therefore petitioned the Justice Minister and the Diet Wednesday to allow the Chinese into Japan without fingerprinting.

The committee said in its petition that the stand on the part the Government might hamper friendly relations between Japan and Communist China.

ASDF Pilot Killed In Hokkaido Crash

An Air Self-Defense Force pilot was killed when his plane crashed yesterday near Tomakomai, Hokkaido.

Capt. Masao Hijioka, 33, of the 3rd Fighter Wing stationed at Hamamatsu, Shizuoka Prefecture crashed at a point about six miles northeast of Tomakomai as he tried to land at Chitose Airfield upon completion of a formation flight from Hamamatsu to Hokkaido.

He had attempted an instrument landing with his F-86F fighter since clouds obstructed the view.

4 Arrested for Selling Bogus American Cocoa

Tsukiji police yesterday arrested a coffee and cocoa dealer, his wife and two brothers on suspicion of selling Japanese-processed cocoa under American labels.

According to the police, Asagoro Takenouchi, 32, of Asakusa, his wife Tomeko, 23, and brothers Kiyoshi, 25, and Hiroshi, 21, sold a total of 3,120 cans of such cocoa under three different brands.

U.S. to Review Strandee Cases

Former American citizens of Japanese descent, who renounced their citizenship in the United States during World War II, may have their cases reviewed by the U.S. Department of State or the U.S. Department of Justice, by presentation of certain documents to those agencies, the American Consul General here announced yesterday.

Nisei renunciants, who are not plaintiffs in civil actions now pending before American courts, should process applications for registration at the nearest American consular office.

The following documents should be presented to the Consulates:

A birth certificate, or other American evidence of birth in the United States; a police certificate of identity; a recent copy of the family register; a complete voting record since April 10, 1946; an employment record since January, 1946; and, an affidavit explaining in detail the reasons for the renunciation of American citizenship.

The applications and other documents will be transmitted by the Consulates to the Department of State for a decision.

Crippled Boy to Get Treatment in Hawaii

By The United Press

A plane delay held up a 10-year-old Okinawa boy's flight to Hawaii for treatment which may enable him to walk for the first time in many years.

The plane from Okinawa was delayed, and Seisho Tanahara will probably depart from Tokyo tonight for Hawaii, PAA officials said here yesterday.

The Okinawa Shrine Club is financing the lad's trip to Honolulu.

The American Shriners decided on their mercy mission for the boy after learning that special medical treatment in Honolulu can cure the boy of his spinal ailment which has prevented his walking.

When the plane arrives in Honolulu the boy and his nurse, Masayo Teruya, will be met by uniformed Shriners there.

New Growth Drug Gibberellin First Isolated by Japanese

NEW YORK (AP)—A new antibiotic, gibberellin, is "stimulating the growth of plants to a nearly startling degree," the Wall Street Journal reported recently.

The business newspaper cited these results from the use of the antibiotic:

Cabbage plants, normally 24 inches high, grown to 12 feet, or six times higher; cucumbers which doubled their growth in one month; celery which came to harvest three weeks earlier than usual; a rise of 10 per cent in tobacco yields, and cotton fibers which were 6 per cent longer.

Most of the findings so far, the publication said, have come from research laboratories in the United States and abroad. One of the chief firms abroad is Imperial Chemical Industries, Limited, of London.

But the journal said within the last five months gibberellin has been offered for sale to backyard gardeners—in liquid form, tablets and aerosol bombs. It said use of the antibiotic by commercial food growers may come later this year.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration, in cooperation with manufacturers, is currently testing its use on edible crops. So far, the publication said, no harmful effects have been found "and full-scale commercial use is expected to come as researchers perfect application processes."

The biggest problem to date, the journal said, is the cost of gibberellin—about $5,000 a pound for the pure antibiotic. The commercial preparations contain only a small quantity of pure gibberellin, it noted.

"Gibberellin was discovered in 1926," the journal said, "when a Formosan, E. Kurosawa, saw that a fungus called gibberella fuyikuroi infected rice causing "bakanae" disease, sometimes known as "foolish seedling disease." The blight caused rice to grow abnormally high, then die.

"In 1938, Japanese scientists isolated the growth-regulating substance and some research work was continued through World War II. In 1951 U.S. Government scientists came up with the idea that gibberellin could be produced by the fermentation process in much the same way penicillin and streptomycin are manufactured.

"While no company will indicate its current productive capacity or actual output figures on gibberellin, they all report they can use present fermentation facilities, employed in making other antibiotics, to turn out this new material as demand warrants."

These tall stalks, spurting 12 feet in the air, are cabbages treated with a new chemical called gibberellic acid, Life Magazine reported in a recent issue. Michigan State University's professor of horticulture, Sylvan H. Wittwer, shown inspecting the cabbages, predicts that the chemical "is going to affect the entire plant kingdom." How it will affect each plant is still being discovered through research trials, particularly in the U.S., Britain and Japan.

Morio Yukawa, Ambassador to the Philippines, and Mrs. Yukawa gave a farewell reception Tuesday evening at the Korinkaku Mansion inviting representatives of the diplomatic corps, prominent Japanese Government officials and their wives. Middlecoff in Slump

Ford, Hogan, Snead Open Threats

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis dentist, opens defense of his National Open golf championship Thursday as a forgotten outsider in a field of the game's greatest stars. Peter Thomson of Australia, three-time British Open champion, is the outstanding foreign threat.

The lank doctor, in a pronounced slump, picks Masters champion Doug Ford as the man most likely to snatch his crown. But around rain-swept Inverness two old and familiar names rang out loudest of all: Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Hogan, 44, lean and fit and apparently hungry for a fifth Open championship which eluded even the immortal Bob Jones, is the sentimental favorite of the fans.

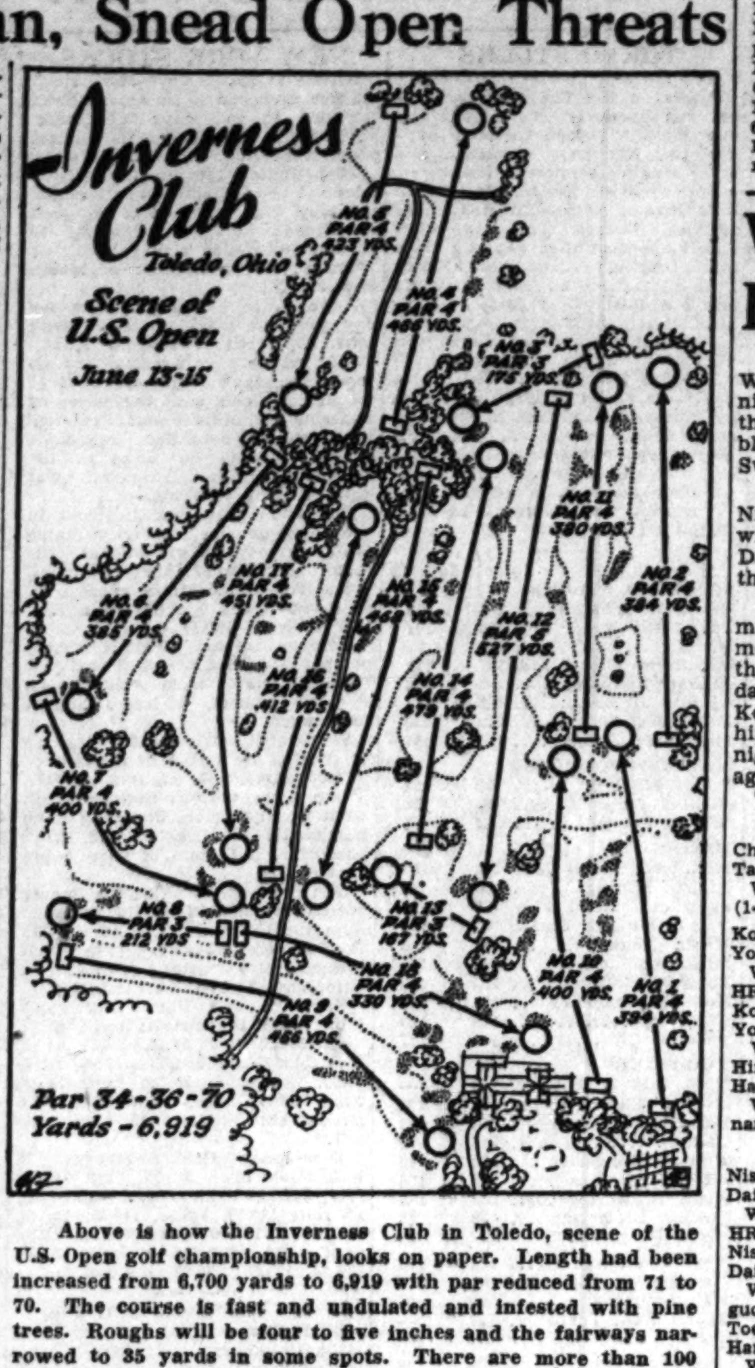
Snead, 45, putting Inverness' greens as if his blade was equipped with radar, has his usual band of supporters who contend that there's never been a greater hitter of the ball.

Sam, who has been runner-up in four opens, plays the Inverness Club course as if he owns it.

But most observers feel the only sure winner to emerge from the 72-hole medal play test ending with 36 rigorous holes Saturday is the Inverness par of 70. The best guess on the winning score is 282 to 285.

There are 129 professionals and 33 amateurs in the list who will play Thursday and Friday for places in the Saturday windup. The field will be reduced to the low 50 shooters and ties for the last day. Virtually every big name in golf is included.

Besides Middlecoff, there are seven past Open champions, dating back to the ageless Gene Sarazen, who made his debut here in 1920 at the age of 18. Others are Lloyd Mangrum (1946), Lew Worsham (1947), Hogan (1948-50-51-53), Julius Boros (1952), Ed Furgol (1954) and Jack Fleck (1955).



Above is how the Inverness Club in Toledo, scene of the U.S. Open golf championship, looks on paper. Length had been increased from 6,700 yards to 6,919 with par reduced from 71 to 70. The course is fast and undulated and infested with pine trees. Roughs will be four to five inches and the fairways narrowed to 35 yards in some spots. There are more than 100 traps, 22 of them new or enlarged.

Whales Beat Dragons 4-3

The bottom place Taiyo Whales beat the leading Chunichi Dragons 4-3 yesterday and the Yomiuri Giants split a double-header with the Kokutetsu Swallows, 5-4 and 2-0.

In the Pacific League the Nishitetsu Lions came back with a vengeance to whip the Daiei Unions 8-2 after losing the opener of a twin bill 7-3.

The Swallows threw in their mainstay Lefty Kaneda to the mound in the second game, but the big southpaw failed. Tuesday night at the same ground, Korakuen, the Giants knocked him out in the first inning. Last night's loss was Kaneda's 10th against 11 wins.

Two Records Set In Army Shooting

FORT BENNING, Ga. (AP)—Two Army rifle records and one pistol mark were set during the second day of action Wednesday in the 1957 all-Army rifle and pistol matches which will continue until June 20 at Fort Benning.

Sergeant First Class Joseph Kelly, 8th Army Far East, set a new record in rifle Match 11, 200-yard slow fire with 20 shots from prone position, with a score of 99-9v's of possible 100.

First Lieutenant J. M. Anewalt, U.S. Army, advanced marksmanship unit, also shot an identical score for the match, but Kelly had a V shot on his final round instead of a 5.

The other rifle record fired was in Match 12, which was the 200-yard rapid fire event using two strings of 10 shots each, standing to kneeling or sitting at 50 seconds per string.

Sergeant First Class Larry McGille, 2nd Army, and Specialist 2.C. Robert Meeks, U.S. Army Alaska, shared honors in Match 12 with record scores of 100-15V's. Capt. Williams Deans, 8th Army Far East, fired the same score, but was eliminated in the process of individual shots.

Nakayama Races

The turf season in the Tokyo area will move this week from Fuchu to Nakayama for a six-week stand. Highlighting Sunday's card is the Special Handicap for older thoroughbreds which will bring the classy Homaremon, top-weighted at 134 pounds, Spring Sun (121), Chikaraboshi (112), My Way (126), Southern Lad (112), Midville (106), Miss Cotel (112) and Higashiterao (123) together over a mile and an eighth.

Also scheduled for Sunday is the Thoroughbred Steeplechase Handicap with Kuroshio assigned 132 pounds, Gaisenmon 128, Kaoru 126, Haguro 123, Yamakabuto 123, Hayaminori 121 and Apolo 119. The day's big race for 3-y-o is the five-and-a-half furlong spring featuring Dancer (128), Toyokatsu (123), Hyakumangoku (123), Young Parade 121, Estay-O (119), Hakutakara (119), Minatokizan (119), Azusa (114), Mitsuharu (112) and Shimahaya (112).

The main events for Saturday are the Arab Special in which Minato Barraques, Daisan Fukuden, New Daiwa, New First, Hihaya, Hishio and Ginhime are expected to start the Thoroughbred Handicap. Tametomo (134) is given a slight edge over Black Vino (128), Mitsuru (123) and Yorka (119) in the latter. Both races will be run over a mile and an eighteenth.

Sam Snead's Golf School

The 'Trouble' Club Means Just That

When you use the 4-wood, you are sacrificing distance for height. This "trouble" club is valuable to use to escape from the rough where the grass isn't too high and for fairway shots which need distance yet are hampered by bad lies provided the distance to the green is over, say, 150 yards.

In today's drawing, the player has his left arm extended, and is uncocking his wrists correctly—at hip-level on downswing.

Play the ball in the center and strike the ball at the bottom of the arc of your swing. The lowest point of that arc should be the center of your stance. So remember to hit down on the ball when you play a 4-wood, as the club-face loft will give you all the height you need.

Stan Musial (left), Cardinals infielder, is congratulated by St. Louis manager Fred Hutchinson before playing his 822nd consecutive game in Philadelphia Tuesday night. Orient King Kaneko Takes on Nakanishi

Orient featherweight champion Shigeji Kaneko, the biggest drawing card in Japanese boxing, makes the sixth defense of his title tonight against popular Kiyoaki Nakanishi, former holder of the Japan crown.

The bout will be staged at the International Stadium in Ryogoku and is scheduled to be held over the 12 round route.

The fight program will open at 6:30 p.m.

Kaneko, Orient titlist for the past 3½ years, has already stopped Nakanishi three times in three meetings in the past. He will go into the ring again the favorite over his foe from the fish markets.

The margin this time, however, is not expected to be great as Kaneko has just undergone an operation for an eye injury.

He hurt his left eye in his last fight with Nakanishi last December, a rousing battle won by Kaneko on a six-round TKO.

Kaneko has appeared only in exhibitions since leaving the hospital in April.

In recent workouts, he appeared to be careful about protecting his left eye.

Nakanishi, just married recently, has been pointing for the match and will be out to pull an upset. He floored Kaneko with a solid right in their last bout and will give Kaneko plenty of trouble if he finds the range again Friday night.

Nakanishi gained his shot at the title by winning a disputed decision over Orient bantam champ Leo Espinosa.

Kaneko first copped the Orient feather title in December 1953 when he kayoed Larry Bataan of the Philippines.

His most notable victories since were his three wins by a close decision over Flash Elorde, now rated No. 4 among world featherweights by Ring magazine.

Since becoming Orient champ, Kaneko has only lost twice—to Sandy Saddler, then the world champion, in the summer of 1955, and to Abel Donnell of Hawaii early last year.

Kaneko has not lost to a Japanese fighter since August 1953, when he was beaten by Masashi Akiyama, veteran Japanese lightweight champion who is now a boxing writer.

Surrey, West Indies Outfits Find Run-Getting Difficult

LONDON (AP)—Surrey, the pride of English cricket, went on trial against the West Indians Wednesday and found run-getting a difficult business against the accurate attack of the tourists.

Surrey was all out for 210. Then came the West Indians' turn and they found run-getting just as difficult as the English county champions.

The West Indians batted for 105 minutes and ended the first day with 55 runs for the loss of two wickets. Fast bowler Peter Loader got the wicket of Rohan Kanhai with only 15 runs on the board. Spin bowler Jim Laker bowled Bruce Pairaudeau five minutes from the end.

Surrey was without England captain and star bowler Tony Lock. The West Indians went into the match without Clive Walcott, Frank Worrell and Roy Gilchrist, all injured. Many felt Surrey had held back Lock so that the West Indians did not get a chance to study the left-arm spin bowler before the second test against England starts June 20. Lock is almost certain to be on the England team.

Top scorer for Surrey was Bernard Constable who scored 43 before being run out. Ken Barrington (26), Dave Fletcher (22), Arthur McIntyre (24), Jim Laker (24) and Peter Loader (16), were the main scorers for Surrey.

The West Indians used five bowlers—Dewdney, Hall, Atkinson, Ramadhin and Sobers. They shared the wickets between them. Sobers was the most successful with 3 for 40. Ramadhin took 2 for 24 in 20 overs.

A crowd of 17,500 turned up in bright sunshine for the match.

Summarized scores: at the oval: Surrey 210. West India 55 for 2. (M. Asgarali 23 not out).

5 Diamond Aces To Be Witnesses At Ball Hearings

WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) announced Wednesday that five baseball stars will be among the witnesses to be heard at baseball hearings to be conducted by a House Antitrust Subcommittee.

The hearings, which get underway Monday, are to determine whether professional baseball should continue to remain exempt from Federal antitrust laws.

Celler, who heads the group, said the players who will take the witness stand during the two-week investigation are Eddie Yost, Washington Senator third baseman; Robin Roberts, ace hurler for the Philadelphia Phillies; Stan Musial, all-time St. Louis Cardinal great; Jerry Coleman, New York Yankee infielder, and Bob Feller, former Cleveland Indian hurler who retired from baseball last year.

Victor R. Hansen, the Government's antitrust chief, will be the lead-off witness before the House group.

To appear with Hansen on Monday will be Earl Kintner, general counsel of the Federal Trade Commission.

On Wednesday, the subcommittee will hear Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick and Minor League President George M. Trautman.

The witnesses the following day will be National League President Warren C. Giles, American League President William Harridge and Leo De Orsey, a director of the Washington baseball club.

The following Monday, June 24, the witnesses will be Yost, who is American League player representative, and Roberts, the National League player spokesman. Also scheduled on Monday are Coleman, the New York Yankee player representative, and J. Norman Lewis, attorney for the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Witnesses on June 25 will be Feller, who now serves as players association president, and Musial.

On June 26, the subcommittee will air the proposed move of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants to the West Coast when Abe Stark, president of the New York City Council, Dodger President Walter O'Malley, Giant President Horace Stoneham and Pacific Coast League President Leslie M. O'Connor will be questioned.

The hearings are prompted by what Celler called "contradictory Supreme Court decisions" that ruled professional football and other sports subject to antitrust violations while baseball has been ruled free of such Federal regulation.

Several Congressmen have introduced legislation on the issue. Some of the proposals would place all sports under the antitrust laws while others would exempt them. Still other bills would separate the business aspects from the rest of professional sports operations.

Chisox Beat Yanks as Bucs Trip Redlegs

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chicago White Sox regained a five-game lead in the American League with a comeback 7-6 victory over New York's second-place Yankees Wednesday night. In the National League the Pittsburgh Pirates made it three in a row over first-place Cincinnati, beating the Redlegs 4-3 in 10 innings to leave a tight little cluster of contenders covered by a one-game spread.

Milwaukee and Brooklyn are tied for second, five points behind the Redlegs, after the Dodgers ended their losing streak at four games with an 11-9 decision over the Braves. And the St. Louis Cardinals, with Stan Musial setting a record for consecutive games played, ran their winning streak to eight games and pulled into a fourth-place tie with Philadelphia by defeating the Phillies 4-0.

The New York Giants defeated Chicago's Cubs 4-3 in the other National League game.

Cleveland retained third place in the American league, defeating Boston 6-1, while fourth-place Detroit beat Baltimore 4-2.

The Pirates hustled from behind to tie the Redlegs with a single run in the ninth, then bagged their fourth in a row on Gene Freese's RBI single with one out in the 10th against reliever Tom Acker. Roy Face won it in relief as the Redlegs blew a 3-1 lead to wind up with their eighth defeat in the last 11 games.

Charlie Neal drove in Brooklyn's final four runs, with a triple and a homer, to give the Dodgers the cushion they needed to hold off a three-home run uprising by the Braves in the last two frames. The Brooks had a 9-1 lead in two innings, with six of the runs unearned.

Reliever Ed Roebuck won his first. Winless Gene Conley lost his fourth.

Musial had a single and double in his 823rd consecutive game, bettering the National League record of 822 set by Pittsburgh's Gus Suhr from 1931 to 1937. Musial's streak started with the 1952 season opener.

The White Sox, who had lost three in a row, squared the three-game set despite a one-man power show by Mickey Mantle, who drove in four runs and was 4-for-5 while slugging two home runs. The homers, his 17th and 18th, gave the Mick seven in eight games and four in the last three.

Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron also homered in a 14-hit Yank attack.

Lou Skizas, Gus Zernial and Hal Smith homered for Kansas City in the Athletics 6-3 victory over Washington in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The Senators won the second game 32, scoring in the ninth on Rocky Bridges' bases-loaded sacrifice fly for a fifth victory for unbeaten reliever Truman Clevenger.

Move Threatens Squaw Valley Site

BELGRADE (AP)—A Finnish move was reported under way at the congress of the International Ski Federation which, if accepted, may strip California's Squaw Valley in the U.S. of the 1960 Winter Olympics.

The Belgrade evening newspaper Veceranje Novosti said Finland would propose to the congress, now meeting behind closed doors at the Yugoslav seaside resort of Dubrovnik, to bar all international skiing contests from places above an altitude of 1,200 meters (3,960 feet).

The famed California winter sports center as well as Davos, St. Moritz and Cortina d'Ampezzo could no longer be hosting international events if the proposal were accepted. It could possibly necessitate a revision of the decision to make Squaw Valley the scene of the 1960 Olympics. The newspaper gave no explanation for the alleged Finnish move.

Atom-Power Plant Begun Near Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Scientists, industrialists and political leaders gathered in a meadow 50 miles southwest of Chicago Wednesday to witness the start of construction of what will be America's largest all-nuclear power reactor.

It is called the Dresden Nuclear Power Station. It will cost $45 million and produce 180,000 kilowatts of power, enough to serve a city of a million inhabitants.

When completed, in 1960, it will feed power into the Commonwealth Edison Company system, serving Chicago and most of northern Illinois.

Some 600 workmen already have completed excavation and foundation work for the plant. Wednesday they threw up the first of 20 steel columns. These will house the station in a 190-foot steel sphere, including its turbine room and other equipment.

Officials estimate the plant will be able to produce power at a cost of three-fourths of a penny per kilowatt hour. This is about the same as the cost of power in coal-fired plants.

Letters of Credit Show Big Decline

Letters of credit for imports opened during the first 10 days of June showed a drop of some $30 million, due probably to the Government's tight money policy.

The Bank of Japan and Finance Ministry jointly announced Thursday that the letters of credit for imports during the period amounted to $63 million as against the $93 million opened during the first 10-day period of the previous month.

The announcement noted the figure under review was the lowest since the beginning of the year.

Letters of credit for exports during the same period totaled $50 million, a drop of $8 million from the first 10-day period of May.

Officials of the Bank of Japan thought the big decline in the letters of credit for imports during the period under review was due to the rise in Bank of Japan's official rates and other monetary controls enforced by the Government.

They thought that letters of credit for imports during this month would be around $250 million.

Letters of credit for imports opened in April totaled $300 million and increased to $320 million in May.

Raw Cotton Imports

The Ministry of International Trade and Industry yesterday announced a cut of 200,000 bales out of the 1,200,000 bales of raw cotton imports that had been budgeted for the first half of fiscal 1957.

The 40,500-ton tanker World Ideal built by the Mitsubishi Shipbuilding and Engineering Company's Nagasaki yards was completed and handed over to the owners, the Atlantic Transportation Co. Ltd., of Liberia, Tuesday.

Agricultural Population Declining, Survey Shows

The farming population of Japan is continuing to see a gradual decline every year, according to an agricultural survey conducted by the Government in 1955.

The survey, announced Wednesday, noted, however, an increase in households possessing farmland ranging from 2.45 to 5 acres, a marked boost in the use of machinery and a rise in the number of farmers engaged in side businesses.

It showed that the number of farming households in 1955 totaled 6,043,000, or 2.2 per cent less than the 6,176,000 households in 1950.

The total farming population registered a drop of 3.5 per cent in 1955 to 36,469,000 persons from 1950's 37,813,000.

The average farming household in 1955 was made up of 6.02 persons as compared with 6.12 for 1950.

The decline was attributed to the lower birth rate in the farming villages and to the outflow into the cities of youths.

Salient Points in Survey

Other salient points in the survey were:

1. The area under cultivation in 1955 totaled 12,698,350 acres, or a slight rise when compared with the 12,472,950 acres for 1950. The total is broken down to 2.1 acres per household as against two acres for 1950.

2. Households tilling 1.2 acres of farmland or less totaled 2,319,000, or 8.2 per cent less than 1950's 2,522,000. Against this, households farming on 2.45 to 5 acres of land rose by 3.6 per cent to 1,387,000 from 1,340,000 in 1950 while those farming on 1.2 to 2.45 acres of land totaled 1,974,000, or just about the same as five years ago.

3. Farming households engaged in side businesses other than their regular farmwork showed a marked rise. Whereas 50 per cent of the households were engaged in side businesses in 1950, the percentage for 1955 was 65.2 per cent.

Increase in Livestock

4. Livestock held by the farmers increased in 1955 when compared with 1950, with the exception of horses. The number of milch cows held totaled 421,000, cattle 2,636,000, sheep 786,000 and hogs 825,000.

5. A marked increase was noted in the use of mechanized farming tools. Households using power cultivators in 1955 totaled 456,000, or a 25-fold increase over the 19,000 households in 1950.

Power-driven threshers were being used by 4,400,000 households in 1955 as against 2,677,000 in 1950.

Scrap Talks Near Accord

WASHINGTON (Kyodo)—An agreement was believed imminent in the negotiations for the purchase by Japan of U.S. scrap iron for 1957, under way in Washington since February.

Japanese Embassy sources revealed Wednesday that Minister Takezo Shimoda was scheduled to call on Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs Thorsten V. Kalijarvi Thursday at which time the final attitude of Japan was to be indicated to the U.S. side.

Shimoda was expected to notify Kalijarvi that Japan would be willing to cut its requested amount of heavy melting scrap by some 10 per cent from the originally-desired figure of 1,600,000 tons.

It was believed that an agreement would be reached at a figure of some 1,400,000 tons.

MITI to Reshuffle High Officials

The Ministry of International Trade and Industry will announce tomorrow a large-scale reshuffle of high-ranking MITI officials, necessitated by the retirement of Vice Minister Takeo Ishihara.

The announcement will be made following approval by the Cabinet today.

According to informants, Koshichi Ueno, vice director of the Economic Planning Agency, will probably assume the vice ministership. The post of chief of the Minister's Secretariat is expected to be filled by Masatoshi Saito, chief of the MITI Light Industry Bureau.

The projected shift will affect the chiefs of all bureaus of the Ministry proper, except the international trade, textile and mine safety bureaus.

German Potash Merchant Due Tokyo Sunday

G. E. Schmelz, president of Verkaufsgemeinschaft Deutscher Kaliwerke G.m.b.H., the selling organization of the West German potash industry, is due to arrive in Tokyo Sunday for a two-week stay. Schmelz is repaying a visit of Japanese business leaders to West Germany.

Japan and the German potash industry have enjoyed excellent relations for nearly half a century.

U.S. Oil Inventory

NEW YORK (AP)—America's swollen inventories of gasoline declined 1,720,000 barrels last week but were still 9,156,000 barrels greater than a year ago, the American Petroleum Institute reports.

Production of crude oil in U.S. fields continued its downward trend. Output of crude oil and condensate averaged 7,337,950 barrels a day, a decline of 80,500 barrels a day from the week before. Production in the like week of 1956 had averaged 6,997,650 barrels daily.

Japan 'Hungry for Help' To Reach U.S. Markets

SAN FRANCISCO (Kyodo-UP)—A noted San Francisco designer who recently returned from the Far East Wednesday said Japanese manufacturers are "hungry for help" in reaching the American market.

Paul Matte, interviewed while making final touches for a July 14 public exhibition of Japanese designs in the San Francisco World Trade Center, spent two months in Japan as part of the Japanese Government's program to encourage exportation of products better adapted to American tastes.

Working as a consultant to assist Japanese designers and producers, Matte also spoke with numerous manufacturers and exporters. "The Japanese realize the market is here but the firm, dollar and cents commitments are not present," he said. "When an American order does come in, it's generally morally degrading to a Japanese. He's merely told to duplicate some item at a dollar less than the going manufactured price, without any thought to design," he said.

"My job was to help manufacturers and designers see what American taste is and what would sell in America. I did some sample designs for them on the spot as well as met with many artists in discussion groups."

Traveling into some areas so remote an American was almost a curiosity, Matte selected what he considered outstanding examples of well-designed Japanese products to be shown in the exhibition.

"These articles, such as wallpaper, ceramic dishes, decorative figures, and carvings, are products of factories, design schools, isolated village craft centers and individual artists," he said.

While in Japan Matte designed a portable organ for the Yamaha and Kawai companies in Hamamatsu and also two grand pianos. "One of the pianos will be of white lacquer with a brass trim," he told reporters.

Wholesalers and retailers at the exhibition would be able to make contact with the firms manufacturing displayed articles, Matte said, and a few pieces would be on sale to the public.

Swedish Clothiers Blast Textile Slash

STOCKHOLM (Kyodo-Reuter)—Six shirt factories in western Sweden have protested to the government against what they describe as drastic restrictions of imports of textiles from Japan. They claim that the restrictions are putting them in a rather difficult situation.

The firms are long-standing importers of poplin from Japan.

They assert the recently signed trade agreement between Sweden and Japan was made without consulting the ready-made clothing industry. The eventual intention of the agreement of protecting the domestic industry is illusory, they added, and if Japanese trading licenses continue to be withheld, orders will be given to the cheaper Dutch manufacturers of poplin.

New Firm Decided For Mie Oil Depot

The Government decided yesterday at its Vice Ministers meeting to switch the ownership of the former Japanese Navy fuel depot in Yokkaichi, Mie Prefecture, which is now owned and used by the Showa Petroleum Company, to a new company to be established jointly by Showa and a group of business firms of the Mitsubishi clan.

This decision reversed a previous one made in August, 1955, in which the fuel depot facilities were sold to Showa Petroleum and the land was leased to the company.

As soon as the new company is established, depot facilities will be transferred by Showa.

Natural Gas Veins Hit Near Sapporo

SAPPORO (Kyodo)—The Oil Resource Development Company has discovered natural gas veins estimated to have a daily volume of about 5,700 cubic yards in the suburbs here.

The Sapporo mining station of the company began drilling for oil May 23 in Oyafuru, in Ishikari-gun, and struck natural gas deposits at a depth of 1,920 feet June 7. The boring has now reached 2,550 feet and the company expects to drill to the 7,500-foot depth by the end of August. Mining experts said discovery of the gas at such subsurface levels indicated presence of promising oil reserves further down.

Bonn, Argentina Agree To Settle Trade Issue

BONN (AP)—The West German Economics Ministry announced Thursday agreement on the settlement of the long-standing economic dispute between Argentina and West Germany.

The Ministry said the "satisfactory results" of the talks here between German and Argentine officials had created "a suitable basis for the Federal Republic to join the multilateral trade and payments system and consolidate the Argentine debts."

Norwegian A-Ship Expert To Be Invited Here

Emile Jansen, internationally known Norwegian authority on atomic ship research, is expected to accept an invitation to visit Japan next month.

A decision to invite the Norwegian engineer was reached by five Japanese atomic research bodies Wednesday.

The five bodies include the private Atomic Ship Investigation Association, Japan Shipbuilding Industry Association, Japan Shipowners Association and Japan Atomic Industrial Forum and the official organization, Japan Atomic Energy Research Institute.

Japan Leads In 1956 Ship Launchings

LONDON (Kyodo-UP)—Lloyd's Register of Shipping reported that Japan led the world last year in ship launchings and export shipping tonnage.

In its annual report covering the year 1956, Lloyd's said Japan also matched West Germany and Sweden in offering minimum average ship construction times of nine months.

"In the years that have elapsed since the end of World War II, Japan and Germany have emerged as serious challengers to the supremacy of the United Kingdom whose output has previously been surpassed only by the United States of America, and then only under wartime conditions," the report said.

The United States, however, leads the world in total gross tonnage with 22.47 per cent of world flag distribution of shipping (excluding Great Lakes shipping). Britain followed with 18.58 per cent, Norway with 7.64 per cent, Liberia 5.31, Italy 3.99, Japan 3.87, the Netherlands 3.81, France 3.75, Panama 3.73 and West Germany 3.05.

Russia was credited with 2.51 per cent for 1956—A steadily inceasing figure.

World gross shipping tonnage was listed as 105,200,361 tons with the U.S. leading with 26,145,642 tons, Britain second with 19,545,875 tons and Norway third with 8,035,340 tons.

Lloyd's said the world total of launchings in 1956 exceeded that for 1955 1,250,000 tons gross, "the largest annual increase in the postwar period."

Japan accounted for 26 per cent of world output launched last year. Other countries included Britain 21 per cent, West Germany 15 per cent, Sweden and the Netherlands 7 per cent each, Italy 5 per cent, France 4 per cent, U.S. 3 per cent and other countries 12 per cent.

Of the percentage of "export tonnage" launched, Japan led with 39 per cent followed by West Germany 19 per cent, Britain 14 per cent, Sweden 10 per cent, France and the Netherlands 4 per cent each and other countries 8 per cent.

Rayon-Cotton Mix To Be Studied

The Japan Chemical Textile Association Wednesday decided to launch a study on the mixing of rayon staple with cotton in order to increase the demand for rayon staple.

The association claimed that the research, if successful, would bring about a saving of about one-half of the foreign exchange spent yearly for raw cotton imports.

It estimated 100 million pounds of rayon staple would be required for a 50 per cent mixture with the 600 million pounds of raw cotton annually consumed by spinners.

A committee of 17 cotton spinners and rayon makers of the association in charge of the matter decided Wednesday to launch the research at a cost of some ¥25 million. The expenses are to be jointly borne by 14 staple fiber makers.

Gov't Picks Delegates For Int'l Meets, Survey

The Government yesterday named delegates to two international meetings to be held abroad late this month.

Kiyohiko Tsurumi, Consul in Jakarta, will represent Japan at the 13th meeting of the International Rubber Study Group opening in Jogjakarta June 24.

Noboru Kanokogi, counselor at the Japanese Embassy in London, will be delegate to the 22nd session of the International Wheat Council opening in the British capital June 25.

The Government yesterday also named Takeshi Kajii, president of the Telegraph and Telephone Corporation, to inspect telephone and telegraph operations in Taiwan, Thailand, Vietnam and Okinawa from June 25 to July 15.

Currency Report

Currency issue of the Bank of Japan Wednesday decreased by ¥8,450 million to ¥576,789 million from Tuesday. Advances rose by ¥3,315 million to ¥365,293 million while national bond holdings declined by ¥13,006 million to ¥193,910 million.

Prices on the Tokyo stock market were generally firm yesterday due mainly to concentrated buying by Nomura, Yamaichi and other leading brokerage houses.

Heiwa Real Estate, Mitsubishi Real Estate, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Reorganized, and other blue chips continued to rise on the market except Ajinomoto. Heiwa Real Estate scored a gain of ¥4 and Mitsubishi Real Estate, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Reorganized, and other gilt-edged shares won ¥6 each.

Teikoku Sekiyu advanced ¥7 to ¥147 as a result of large purchases by Nomura. Business firms, iron and steel, machinery, electrical machinery, automobile, ball-bearing, coal, oil, chemicals and chemical fiber shares followed suit.

Turnover was estimated at some 25 million shares.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced to its second peak for 1957 in two days Wednesday putting the average at its highest point since Aug. 20, 1956.

Profit-taking late in the session trimmed prices below their best for the day but there was a good assortment of gains running to around one dollar a share.

There were a number of losers, however.

An advance by rails late in the day gave the market a more solid tone. Wall Street sources looked at the advance as a carry-through from Tuesday's vigorous upsurge which coincided with the series of cheering bulletins about President Eisenhower's condition. Monday's nervous selling on news of the President's "upset stomach" was now receding into history.

Expansion plans for business in the third quarter and encouraging Wall Street reports about the motor industry also helped prices.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 70 cents to a new 1957 high of 185.90 dollars.

Volume totaled 2,600,000 shares compared with 2,850,000 Tuesday.

Among the 15 most active stocks 7 were gainers, 4 losers and 4 unchanged.

Woolworth was shoved to the top of the list by virtue of a block of 29,300 shares, sold at 41¼, off 1¾. There were various notions about what was going on, including some pessimistic ideas about the firm's prospects, but none of these were verified.

Oils grew spotty after the Senate antitrust committtee said that the Supreme Court decision in the Du Pont-General Motors case "has opened new vistas of antitrust enforcement" in the oil industry.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON (AP)—The London stock exchange developed a mixed tone Wednesday with trading on a reduced scale.

British Government bonds closed with small gains. Foreign bonds also were quiet.

Industrials tended to drift lower. Profit-taking halted the five-day boom in South African gold shares which declined as much as two shillings and sixpence (35 cents).

The Financial Times industrial ordinary index was 202.4, down 0.5.

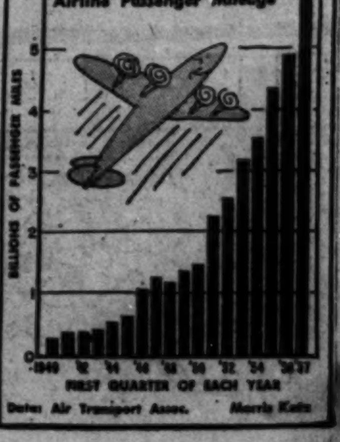
AIRLINES FLY HIGH

1st-quarter passenger mileage zooms to new all-time record.



Data: Air Transport Assoc. Morris Katz

Discussing plans for a unique travel project to show Canadians something of Japan and the Orient, Mrs. Marta Friesen (center), University of British Columbia language teacher, speaks with Canadian Pacific Airlines stewardesses Kay Yamazaki (left) and Shirley Shudo, both of Vancouver. Mrs. Friesen and her party will leave Vancouver for Tokyo by CPAL plane on Sept. 15.

Aviation Notes and News

Vivid memories of an exciting trip to Japan and the Far East have prompted Mrs. Marta Friesen, a University of British Columbia language teacher, to start a unique travel project to share her experiences with other Canadians. Mrs. Friesen is organizing a fully-conducted tour of the Orient, including Japan, Hongkong and Manila with a visit to Hawaii on the return journey. A graduate of the University of Chile, and wife of Dr. J. K. Friesen, head of UBC's department of extension, Mrs. Friesen has always been interested in global travel. During the past three years she has organized three tours from Vancouver to Mexico for students of her Spanish night school classes. The Orient tour conducted by Mrs. Friesen will leave Vancouver on Sept. 15. A Canadian Pacific Airlines Super DC-6B Empress airliner will wing the tour group to Tokyo in 18 hours. Three days will be spent in the Japanese capital, where the Vancouver teacher will personally conduct tours to interesting features of the ancient city.

The entire fleet of 25 Pan American Boeing strato-clippers flying on the company's transpacific and transatlantic services is now fitted with new solid dural propellers, thus eliminating noise and vibration in the cabin of double-decked aircraft. PAA installed new solid dural-bladed propellers on the Boeing aircraft at a cost of $1,711,000 as results of exhaustive flight tests. It is the first airline operating strato-clippers to make the conversion of propellers. It said the new propellers gave the aircraft "significantly lower noise level" in the cabin and much less vibration results. Seventeen strato-clippers are assigned to the company's transpacific routes and the remaining eight to transatlantic operations.

The Tokyo office of Trans World Airlines announced the extension of Super-G Constellation schedules to serve India and Ceylon effective June 2. TWA previously operated a weekly Lockheed Constellation-749 service between the U.S. and Ceylon. Inauguration of Super-G service to Basra, Dhahran, Bombay and Ceylon increases the air travel capacity in both low-fare tourist and first-class luxury services beyond Athens and Cairo to the Middle and Far East. It also announced that TWA has increased Super-G schedules between the U.S. and Lisbon and Madrid to three a week in each direction. This brings the total number of TWA flights to and from the Iberian peninsula to eight weekly round trips.

Charles S. Thomas, a leading Los Angeles businessman prior to high naval appointment in 1953, has been re-elected to the Board of Directors of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation. Thomas, who resumed residence in Los Angeles a month ago, retired last April as Secretary of Navy following a career of distinguished naval service which began during World War II. He had resigned a previous directorship at Lockheed to accept the post of Undersecretary of Navy in 1953. Prior to this recent tour of duty in the Navy, Thomas was president of Foreman and Clark, a national clothing company with headquarters in Los Angeles, and a director of several companies.

Top aviation and science writers of the world are planning to gather in Toronto, Canada, in September. Members of the International Society of Aviation Writers and of other writing groups, they will cover the Canadian International Air Show to be held Sept. 6-7, aeronautical aspects of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics Congress Sept. 3-14 and possibily other events. Many of 450 members from 35 different countries have already indicated their interest in attending. ISAW is the only international body made up of professional aviation writers and newspapermen throughout the world.

Britain's de Havilland Propellers Ltd. announce that a new air-to-air guided weapon employing an infrared target homing system is now being produced for the Royal Air Force in Britain. This missile, known as Firestreak, will be fitted as standard equipment to the English Electric P. 1 and the Gloster Javelin aircraft. Firestreak's infrared system employs a detector eye which is sensitive to infrared rays emitted from an aircraft. The eye, once it sights a target, feeds information into the control system to ensure that the weapon continues traveling in the correct direction no matter what maneuver the target may perform. It is also immune from jamming and makes it possible to employ Firestreak against conventional radar weapons. Firestreak's components are divided into six main sections: guidance, control, fusing system, power supply, propulsion motor, and warhead. These are housed inside an aerodynamic body tube fitted with four small wings and four control fins.

The Caravelle, France's 500-mile-an hour jet airliner, set a new commercial airline record of 1 hour 11 minutes last Monday on a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco. The 52-passenger model, with 49 members of the press and a crew of six aboard, met a 70-mile-an-hour headwind the entire way but still bettered the old mark set by a turbo-prop type plane by two minutes.

Negotiations will begin in London on June 18 between the United States and Britain in regard to the extension of Trans World Airways and Northwest Airline routes for the Americans and BOAC and British West Indies Airlines (BWIA) routes for the British. A delegation of U.S. State Department and Civil Aeronautics Board officials will go to London as soon as the present negotiations here with an Australian delegation for a Qantas air route from San Francisco to New York are ended. The U.S. delegation is expected to request traffic rights for extending the TWA transatlantic route to London and Frankfurt as far as Zurich in Switzerland and the Northwest Airlines transpacific route to Tokyo as far as Hongkong. The TWA air route extension to Zurich is considered of importance as it would link up with a TWA transatlantic route to Paris and Zurich and this would considerably strengthen TWA's service to India and other places in the East and Far East. Importance is likewise attached to extending Northwest Airlines route from Tokyo to Hongkong, as Hongkong is an important civil aviation center in the Far East. The British negotiators are likely to ask for an extension of the present BOAC transatlantic route to San Francisco as far as Sydney in one direction and as far as Tokyo in the other direction to create BOAC round-the-world service.

Experts told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in San Francisco that the supersonic planes of tomorrow, so fast that friction with the air will heat them to temperatures up to 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit, will have to be made by "completely new manufacturing methods" out of new materials now being developed. E. A. Simkovich, of the Republic Aviation Corp., Farmingdale, N.Y., declared the change in engineering and manufacturing concepts will be as profound as that which came with the introduction of all-metal aircraft in the early 1930s to replace wood and fabric construction. He said the basic cause of the impending technological revolution is the fact that even in the rarified atmosphere seven miles above the earth high-speed planes generate fantastic heat through air friction. At this altitude a plane going three times the speed of sound becomes heated to a temperature of about 700 degrees. At projected higher speeds the temperature hits 1,200 up to 1,800 degrees. Today's planes, made largely of aluminum, could not fly at such temperatures without disintegrating. To surmount this problem, new alloys of titanium and steel are being perfected and these alloys have been found to be relatively immune to heat while remaining comparatively light in weight. However, he pointed out that titanium is not an abundant metal and thus far has proved expensive to use in the making of alloys.

The world's press will be headlining the Society of British Aircraft Constructors' 18th flying display and exhibition, to be held at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, during the first full week of September. This year's show promises to be the biggest to date. The Royal Air Force is planning, weather permitting, novel and interesting participation in the flying display which will also include aircraft of the Fleet Air Arm.

Fear and Our Rights

Crime can be vicious enough but when politics is mixed in with it we have the most intolerable situation imaginable. And we do have precisely such a situation here in Japan right now.

Recent revelations have shown that a number of self-styled patriots are employing terroristic tactics against book and magazine publishers, writers and motion picture executives whose work they disapprove of. Police have gathered evidence enough to charge these little Hitlers with intimidation, extortion and even in some cases physical violence.

Yet nothing can be done to bring them to justice. Why? Simply because their victims will not admit to having been victimized. The threats of the political gangsters have them utterly cowered.

According to police information, several reputable publishers, writers and movie makers have paid big sums of money to organizations like the Gokoku Seinen Kai (National Protection Youth Society) in the form of "apologies." Their sins, in the eyes of the ultranationalists, were to put out articles, stories and films critical of Japan's war effort or including informal treatment of members of the Imperial Family.

The "apology" is not enough, though. Sometimes the offending publication must be withdrawn, though it may be enjoying a good sale. And invariably the intimidated party thereafter avoids similar subject matter.

If some persons are willing to bow to this sort of punishment and censorship, it is more than their own business. Their losses are insignificant compared to those suffered by the public.

We must protest with all our vigor this compromising of the public's right. It is a sad thing indeed when some of the very men who loudly assert the principle of freedom of the press meekly give in to the suppressors of that freedom. It is worse, though, in consideration of the fact that in so doing they are depriving the public of its right to enjoy access to freely expressed opinions and information.

But what recourse does the public have? Unfortunately, the law cannot be brought into action until the publishers, writers and movie men become strong-willed enough to grant the police their cooperation. Public opinion, if it is strong enough, could influence them.

These persons should be made to understand their responsibility. They are under test, and insofar as the public can affect them the whole nation is under test.

Democracy is just as strong as the people's desire for it. When our rights are threatened it is our responsibility to fight for them. If we fail, through fear or apathy, to meet the threat now posed by these self-appointed censors of the press and screen, we will have to stop talking about our rights. For then we wouldn't deserve them.

Our Much-Maligned Cabbies

Last week it was refreshing to read Harold Steele's tribute to the much-maligned Japanese taxi drivers. The British Quaker, whose self-sacrificing devotion to the campaign against nuclear weapons proves him to be one of the most sincere men of our time, was writing from experience and from his heart. Any fair-minded person must agree with him, too, in saying that Tokyo's cabbies are generally courteous, pleasant and honest.

And yet, according to statistics made public last Saturday, these same taxi drivers account for one-fourth of all auto accidents. On a percentage basis, they are eight times more dangerous than other motorists.

Now how can this record be squared with the assertion that the cabbies are such nice fellows? Is it a case of split personality?

It would take a panel of psychoanalysts to say exactly, but we may venture an explanation. First of all, it is to be noted that the courtesy, pleasantness and honesty of the taxi drivers is strictly limited to their customers. We may even go so far as to say that what makes them so dangerous is their discourtesy, unpleasantness and dishonesty toward other drivers and pedestrians.

The economic motive is only incidental in this unseemly prejudice for customers. At the bottom is a certain social attitude that makes a man exceedingly decent to individuals and utterly contemptuous toward society. Parallels may be drawn in the often-commented contradiction of politeness at home but boorish behavior in crowds.

Taxi drivers have more accidents because they drive more. In fact, the Metropolitan Police Department gives fatigue from overwork as the primary factor in their mishaps. The cabbies have no monopoly on bad traffic habits; among motorists and pedestrians generally there is a lack of respect for the rights of the other fellow.

When such bad manners cause nothing more than frayed tempers it may not be too serious, but when the result is counted in a mounting toll of deaths and injuries something must be done. Traffic regulations offer a ready-made cure for this split personality illness. If they were enforced, we should see that courtesy, pleasantness and honesty that Mr. Steele admired extended to save lives.

Press Comments

Friday, June 14

Asahi Shimbun took up the Education Ministry's recent announcement on the result of its "achievement tests" conducted last summer on a nationwide scale. In the announcement, it was made clear that pupils of schools sufficiently funded had finer records in the tests than pupils of schools which lacked enough funds. This fact will indicate what steps are necessary to promote achievements by students. First of all, measures should be taken to eliminate overcrowded classrooms. The paper also stressed the need of upholding the principle of "equal opportunity in education." School children in remote corners of the country and in and around U.S. military bases scored badly in the Education Ministry's achievement tests.

Mainichi Shimbun said the general public was relieved at the news that the summer struggle by the National Council of Government Enterprise Workers Union has ended without developing into serious proportions. The summer struggle was being waged to win a summer bonus and withdrawal of the Government's punitive measures against leaders of the spring labor offensive. If the powerful National Railway Workers Union, had taken recourse by using force, the union's instruction would have been turned down by its subordinate chain of command and the union would have been discredited in the eyes of the general public, the paper said. Thus, the railway workers union acted wisely by "shelving" the struggle policy against the Government's punitive action, it concluded.

Yomiuri Shimbun hailed the ending of the dispute between the National Railway Public Corporation and its employes union. The union acted wisely by working out a policy of "shelving its dispute against the Government's punitive measures, thereby putting an end to the vicious cycle of struggles and punitive actions. With this as an opportunity, the corporation's management and employes were urged to continue talks for an amicable solution of the problems of the discharged union leaders. The paper at the same time called on the union to discuss its action policy in a democratic way at their convention late this month. Without general public support, labor will not be able to effectively put its action policy into practice, it advised.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A New China Policy

Although our China policy remains unchanged, there has been a change of feeling about it. The number of true believers, such as Walter Robertson, have dwindled, and they are now able to control the policy only because no one in a responsible position has come forward with a convincing and satisfying alternative. That is why there was only a perfunctory reaction in Washington to the Taiwan riots and to the British abandonment of the special trade restrictions. There is a general feeling that even if our China policy is still the best possible policy, it has become a poor and dismal policy nevertheless.

For all our assets are deteriorating. Chiang is getting older and his chance of ever restoring his power has disappeared. His army, though large in numbers, is also growing older, and it cannot recruit from any large mass of Chinese. Red China is still being denied a place in the United Nations, but only because our friends though they do not agree with us, are willing to defer temporarily to our pleadings. There is almost certainly an adequate majority to give Peiping the China seat in the U.N.

Within Taiwan there exists, as the Taiwan riots so surely indicated, a general sense of frustration. The fact of the matter is that while the Chinese who have fled to Taiwan are protected on their island, they are also contained inside their island. This is a very unhealthy situation, to be safe, to be subsidized and to have no hope. Where can it lead? Where eventually but to the seduction of the island Chinese by the mainland Chinese, and to a deal—after Chiang goes—which would put Taiwan back under the rule of Peiping?

This is the prospect, and only a counter-revolution on the mainland, which is highly improbable, could make the prospect different.

A reappraisal of our China policy is, therefore, necessary unless we wish to throw up our hands, confess that we are helpless, and that we must wait with resignation for the inevitable deterioration to produce a general disaster. If the best that we can hope to do is to hold fast and to stand pat with Robertson, the odds are very big that there will be a crash and that our whole position in the Far East will be involved in it.

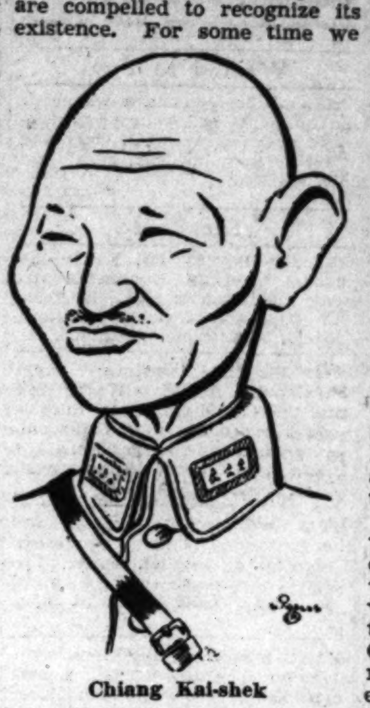
The glaring weakness of our China policy is that we are saying one thing about Taiwan and we are doing something very different. What we are saying is that Chiang's Government in Taiwan is the legitimate and rightful government of all of China. What we are doing is to keep Chiang securely tied down in Taiwan. We won't help his government to recover the territory over which it is supposed to be the legitimate sovereign. We won't permit it to try to recover its territory lest by a foolish adventure it would involve us in a war. Moreover, to speak plainly, we have not objected to having the word passed on to Chou En-lai in Peiping that there will be no military invasion of the mainland.

Although officially we do not recognize the government of Mao Tse-tung, unofficially we are compelled to recognize its existence. For some time we have, in fact, been conducting diplomatic negotiations with Red China in Geneva.



Chiang Kai-shek

And so while our legal policy is that there is one China with Chiang the head of its legitimate government, our real policy is to have two Chinas, separated by the 7th Fleet, one on the mainland and one in Taiwan. Our real policy is fundamentally sound and right. It corresponds to our commitments of honor, to the political realities in the Far East, and to our strategic interests. But as things are now, it has a fatal weakness. It is almost certain to break down because, since it has no legal and political basis, the Chinese have every incentive to break it down.

In my view, the object of our China policy should now be a political settlement with all the Chinese, based on the principle that Taiwan is to have special status. We should propose, it seems to me, that under the protection and guardianship of the United Nations, Taiwan be recognized as autonomous, demilitarized, and neutralized Chinese territory with its own seat in the General Assembly. If Red China agreed to such settlement, it would become the basis of a peace treaty.

A settlement of this kind would legalize, regularize and consolidate the real situation which now exists. All that would be given up would be the legal fictions, that Chiang's Government is the true government of China, that Mao's Government, which is indisputably the government of the mainland, has no legal existence. The settlement would confirm what is really important in what we actually have—namely a Taiwan that is an asylum for the anti-Communist Chinese and an island territory that is not in unfriendly hands.

U.S. Chairman, National Committee, IGY
(Written Expressly for International News Service)

The eyes of science will be on the sun every minute of the 18-month-long International Geophysical Year starting July 1. From this around-the-clock observation, "IGY" scientists of 58 nations hope to learn new facts about our universe. In this article, third of a series of IGY by the men who organized it, A. H. Shapley, brilliant young astronomer, tells of the IGY sun patrol.—Editor.

The source of all energy is the sun. The role of the sun in the creation of coal and oil and its role in weather and climate is well known. The sun also causes radio fade-out, disrupts our navigational systems, and creates the beautiful northern and southern lights of the aurorae.

Solar activity, including the number of sunspots, increases and decreases fairly regularly over an 11-year cycle. The time of the International Geophysical Year was purposely chosen to be one of high solar activity so that the relations between solar eruptions and terrestrial disturbances could be studied more intensively and extensively than ever before. The sun will be under continuous observation 24 hours a day all during the IGY, 1957-58, from over 70 solar stations around the world.

Ultraviolet light from the sun is the principal agent which accounts for the ionosphere—a vast, complex mantle of electrically-charged, rarified gas which occupies the region between 45 and 200 miles above the earth.

The sun's ultraviolet radiation produces free electrons and ionized atoms and molecules. It is the free electrons in the ionosphere which play the major role in long-distance radio communications, reflecting radio impulses much as a mirror reflects light. The ionosphere itself is, however, more like a stormwracked sea, constantly variable, changing from season to season and even from hour to hour. In extreme cases these changes can cause radio fade-out or the transmission of FM and TV signals to unusual distances.

The U.S.-IGY program in ionospheric physics includes investigations of the ionosphere by the standard methods of sending radio impulses straight up and at varying angles and receiving the echoed signals as they are reflected by the ionosphere. It also includes observations of the ionosphere by research rockets and the IGY earth satellite, as well as a number of experiments in the sending of radio signals by the recently discovered "scatter" technique.

Certain intense solar flares are almost always succeeded by radio fade-out, magnetic storms, and heightened auroral activity. The great magnetic storms may be accompanied by auroral displays in both northern and southern latitudes which extend nearly to the equator. Both phenomena are produced in some way by the action of the sun.

It is thought that particles streaming in from the sun in the earth's direction and converging upon the earth along the lines of the magnetic field cause the aurora. They penetrate the upper atmosphere, exciting the gases about 60 miles above the earth. When these gases return to their normal state they give off light, much in the same way as a neon tube glows. But the aurorae are just one of the many kinds of atmospheric luminosity (glow). Another luminosity is called airglow and is produced by chemical reactions in the upper atmosphere.

The IGY auroral and airglow program will consist of systematic observations in both Arctic and Antarctic regions, with a major effort being made to correlate the times of auroras in the two polar regions. To provide a complete, permanent record of the aurora the all-sky camera has been developed. This camera, which takes a motion picture of the complete hemisphere of the sky, provides the scientists with a record of the complete aurora as it goes through its various phases.

On nights of cloud cover and during the day radio waves can also be employed to track the aurora's course.

As earthlings, we are partially blind as far as the rest of the universe is concerned. Our atmosphere acts as a shield, screening out radiations and particles from outer space. Cosmic rays are an example. While their existence has been known for 50 years, where they come from and their exact nature are still uncertain. It is known that they consist largely of streams of electrically charged particles. These particles bombard the earth continually from every direction—we are literally bathed in them.

Generally the fundamental cosmic rays (called primaries) do not reach the earth. The primaries encounter atmospheric atoms and molecules and because their energies are so great, millions of times the energy of our best atomic accelerators, they smash into air particles and create new cosmic rays (called secondaries). It is the secondaries that are generally observed and measured.

IGY scientists hope to gain some knowledge of the source and the nature of cosmic rays as well as to learn the reasons for their decrease in intensity during geomagnetic storms and their relation to the sunspot cycle.

Man is completely dependent on the sun. It is the center of his universe. It is life-giving and it is lethal, but until we know more about it and its terrestrial effects our knowledge of our own planet is incomplete. It is to the filling of some of the gaps in our knowledge that this phase of the International Geophysical Year is dedicated.

U.S. Troops Abroad

To the Editor:

U.S. troops stationed in European and Asian countries since World War II have created so many troubles, through the misbehavior of the individual members. The result is that there is today a growing resentment among the peoples of these countries against U.S. troops and Americans in general, a very unfortunate situation.

As the New York Times military writer, Hanson Baldwin, suggested some time ago, it is time for the U.S. authorities to think seriously of withdrawing their armed forces from Japan and other countries of the world. That would be one of the best ways of improving relations between the U.S. and her present Allies and friendly nations.

If American politicians and journalists act so stupidly, as they have done so far, and try to overlook the crimes of U.S. Armed Forces personnel, they would only help the Kremlin bosses to increase their friends and supporters.

Nihon-go

The Japanese language is unique, isolated from all other languages, making it very hard for foreigners to learn. Though unrelated to any other language, it has adapted many foreign words, particularly Chinese.

The original language or Yamato-kotoba was only a spoken language, not written. As Chinese culture was introduced, Chinese characters were adopted to write out the language. Later kana or Japanese alphabet was made by simplifying Chinese characters. At the same time, the Chinese language was studied by the Japanese and used in official documents.

Thus a large number of Chinese characters and expressions came to be used in Japanese or Nihongo. The result is that there are many words or expressions which are the same or similar in sound but different in meaning. In such cases the meaning cannot be understood unless the characters are seen.

There are many dialects throughout the country. The standard Japanese is based on the Tokyo dialect. A wide difference is seen in local dialects. Often "hai" (yes) means "no" and "nai" (no) means "yes" as in the Saga dialect of Kyushu.

There is also a great difference between the spoken and the written languages. Women have their own language, greatly different from a man's. This trend became particularly marked in the Tokugawa days whereas before this there was no such wide difference. The language changes according to the social position of the speaker and the one spoken to. There are common expressions and polite expressions of the same meaning.

One foreigner has noted that in speaking Japanese, one must know how to speak "aru," "arimasu" and "gozaimasu"—three different ways of saying "is."

The subject is often omitted in a sentence, either spoken or written. Sentences are often very long with adverbial clauses, making it hard to know what they qualify. Sometimes it is hard to know where a sentence ends.

A Lot of Tickets

NANA

A wealthy Chicago merchant saw the movie, "Around The World in 80 Days," recently and liked it so much that he bought $105,885 worth of tickets to present to his customers as a gift.

This unusual move was probably the biggest single-ticket purchase in the history of show business, according to those in the theater business.

The vast majority will not be able to promote a worthwhile film by giving away tickets even on a small scale. But it is within your power to do many other things in a positive way to encourage the many fine attempts made by newspapers, magazine and book publishers, as well as by radio and television producers.

When you focus attention on better quality presentations, you help to raise standards in all channels of communication. By encouraging the good, you automatically attract interest away from what is cheap, vulgar or brutal. Although you always must protect your right to reject what is evil, remember the Christopher motto: "Better to light one candle than to curse the darkness."

"Be not overcome by evil, but overcome evil by good." (Romans 12:21)

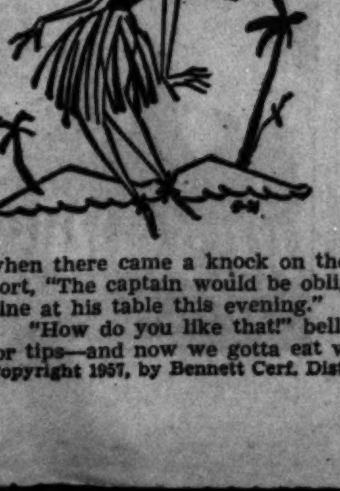
Models of distinction:

1. The one from Honolulu who taught other girls the hula. "It's easy," she maintained. "First you put a crop of grass on one hip. Then you put a crop of grass on the other. Then you rotate the crops."



2. The model Peter Lind Hayes discovered in New Rochelle. "She has absolutely everything a man desires," insists Peter, "including muscles and a mustache."

3. The model who was so ugly that when she walked into a studio three mice jumped up on chairs.

Coming home from Europe, a new movie star was complaining to his wife, "I'll bet I've handed out $5,000 in tips on this tub," when there came a knock on the door. It was a steward to report, "The captain would be obliged if you and your wife would dine at his table this evening."

"How do you like that!" bellowed the star. "All that dough for tips—and now we gotta eat with the crew!"
